Court orders ASI to survey Gyanvapi mosque

In a significant order, the Varanasi district court allowed the scientific survey of Gyanvapi mosque premises by the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI), barring the area sealed after a Supreme Court order last year. The court directed ASI to conduct Ground Penetrating Radar survey and other modern techniques to determine whether the mosque was constructed over a pre-existing Hindu temple. |12

DGCA nod to Go First flight resumption plan

Aviation regulator DGCA on Friday said it has approved Go First's plan to restart operations with 15 aircraft and 114 daily flights with a host of conditions, including the availability of required interim funding. The carrier stopped flying on May 3 and is undergoing an insolvency process. The airline will comply with all regulatory requirements for holding an Air Operator Certificate and will ensure the airworthiness of the aircraft, the DGCA said.

NCW wrote thrice, drew no response from state officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

FACING heat for not taking up earlier the Manipur incident where two women were paraded naked, National Commission for Women (NCW) chairperson Rekha Sharma on Friday clarified that she had written thrice to the authorities concerned in the state but received no response.

Letters were sent on May 19, May 29 and June 19 expressing concern over violence against women. Her last letter was to the state Director General of Police Rajiv Singh on July 20.

Rekha Sharma

Clearing the air on the allegations that she had received a complaint about the incident but had not taken any action, Sharma shared her three letters with the media. After the shocking video was uploaded on social media, the NCW took suo motu cognisance of the incident.

"We are in touch with the officers from Manipur... Not one specific but there were many complaints and that too from people outside India and Manipur. Firstly, it had to be clarified whether whatever was written was true. The Manipur government has to clarify and if it is true they have to work on it. So, accordingly, we wrote to them," she said.

She also said she had flagged the issue of violence against women thrice in the last three months to authorities in Manipur. Sharma added that she had forwarded complaints received by a group in Manipur to the state's Chief Secretary Vineet Joshi and DGP P Doungel on May 29. In that letter, she stressed the need to respect the dignity and fundamental rights of all women and girls.

MANIPUR POLICE GET CUSTODY OF 4 ACCUSED

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR & PREETHA NAIR @Guwahati/New Delhi

A day after four accused were arrested in the Manipur viral video case, they were remanded in police custody for 11 days by a local court.

The accused were produced before the Judicial Magistrate First Class in Thoubal on Friday through video conference. They were not physically presented before the judge considering their safety.

In a related development, a group of women torched the house of another person seen in the video. The 20-year-old suspect, who hails from Wangjing Awang Leikei in the Thoubal district, went underground when the police started conducting searches for the accused persons.

On Thursday, the house of Huirem Herodas Meitei, 32, the key accused, was torched hours after his arrest. A group of women with their faces covered, raided his house at Pechi Awang Leikai in the Thoubal district and vandalised it before setting it on fire. Following his arrest, three other accused were arrested. Their identities were not disclosed.

Chief Minister N Biren Singh avoided a direct reply on Friday when asked on the rising demand from the Opposition for his resignation on the charge that the state government failed to maintain law and order."I don't want to get into that discussion. My job is to restore peace," Singh told a news channel. He added, "Every society has miscreants. We will not spare them. Efforts are on to arrest the rest involved in the incident."

In Delhi, Parliament was stalled for the second successive day following Opposition uproar over the situation in Manipur. Both Houses saw chaotic scenes after presiding officers declined to allow a debate on Manipur under Rule 267. The rule gives a Rajya Sabha member special powers to suspend the agenda of the House with the consent of the Chairman.

The Rajya Sabha was adjourned till Monday after the Opposition resorted to sloganeering as Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar said the discussion on Manipur can be taken up only after consultation with the leader of the House. In the Lok Sabha, though Defence Minister Rajnath Singh reiterated that the government was ready for a discussion, the Opposition was adamant on their demand for a statement from Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Manipur and a discussion under Rule 267.

HDK: Not joining NDA now, will fight against Cong govt with BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister HD Kumaraswamy on Friday said JDS and BJP will work together — inside the Assembly as well as outside — against the Congress government.

He said they will fight together against irregularities and corruption in the Congress government as both are opposition parties. As of now, JDS will not join NDA as there is time for Lok Sabha elections.

Kumaraswamy's remarks at a joint press conference with former chief minister and BJP leader Basavaraj Bommai gave credence to speculations over the regional party joining hands with BJP to fight the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

On Thursday, leaders of both parties jointly petitioned the governor against the state government's move of deputing IAS officers to receive politicians attending the opposition parties' meeting in the city earlier this week. Kumaraswamy and other JDS legislators had signed a memorandum written on the BJPLP letterhead.

Kumaraswamy and Bommai also announced their decision to fight against the alleged irregularities in the Nandi Infrastructure Corridor Enterprises (NICE) road project.

'Guarantees, a bribe; declare Siddu's election as MLA void'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE election of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah as MLA of Varuna constituency has been challenged before the Karnataka High Court on the grounds that he indulged in corrupt practices during campaigning.

Justice S Sunil Dutt Yadav asked petitioner KM Shankara from Koodanahalli in Varuna hobli to rectify the objections raised by the registry and adjourned the matter to July 28 for hearing.

The petitioner, who is a former member of taluk panchayat and president of Basaveshwara Yuvaka Sangha, contended that the five guarantees announced by the Congress party during its campaign for the May 10 Assembly elections amounted to bribery and undue influence under Section 123(2) of the Representation of the People Act.

The guarantees are like offers and promises made by the candidate and the party. They are in the form of gratification to voters of Varuna and with the objective of directly inducing them to vote for the party's candidate, the petitioner stated.

‘MY SON WAS TOLD IT’S BETTER TO DIE’

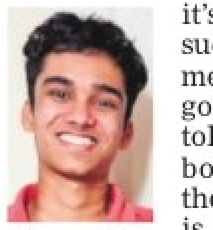
Deceased student Aditya Prabhu’s mother takes to Instagram to tell their side of story

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

THE mother of Aditya Prabhu, the 19-year-old student who took his own life following allegations of cheating in an exam, has supposedly taken to social media, demanding that her son’s name be cleared.

In a series of posts on social media, she alleged that the university had tried to cover up Aditya’s death, and also harassed her son, leading him to take the extreme step. On July 17, following an examination, Aditya jumped off the eighth floor of a building. The university stated that Aditya had allegedly been caught cheating using a mobile phone during an examination, and had died by suicide while waiting for his parents to reach the university.

However, an account on social media site Instagram, claiming to be Aditya’s mother, stated that Aditya had called her following the examination and said he had unintentionally taken a mobile phone into the hall, removed it and kept it to one side on discovering it. “I am Aditya Prabhu’s mother. He was a student of PES University. The college announced to the media that Aditya was caught cheating and copying during examination. I want to tell our side of the story here,” she said.



Aditya Prabhu

She also alleged that proper procedure wasn’t followed and he had been mentally harassed upon being caught with the phone. “They told him it’s better to die than do such things and he asked me to come to college. I got to know that they told the police that the boy who jumped isn’t their college student and is some random person who walked in. They pressurised the police to move the body away,” she said.

She also said that following the incident, several students had come forward to talk about harassment by the university, where they were told their lives would be destroyed. “My poor boy just panicked that his reputation is destroyed and took this extreme step. I agree carrying the mobile inside the examination hall, even when done unintentionally, was wrong. But he didn’t deserve the harassment that pushed him to take this extreme step,” she said.

Speaking to TNIE, PES University officials refused to comment on the allegations. “We cannot comment on the issue as investigations are ongoing and an FIR has already been filed against the university,” said Ajoy Kumar, COO, PES University.

Drains: HC summons BBMP chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

EXPRESSING dissatisfaction for not submitting a comprehensive scheme for clearing of encroachments of stormwater drains (SWDs) in the city, the Karnataka High Court directed the Chief Commissioner of Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) as well as an officer of the Urban Development Department, not below the rank of secretary, to be present in person before the court on the next date of hearing on August 1.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal passed the order after hearing a batch of public interest litigations filed from 2018 onwards relating to SWDs.

“We are not at all satisfied to treat these measures as a comprehensive scheme. In our order, a specific reference was made for a comprehensive scheme... There is nothing in the record to suggest what actions were initiated against those encroachers and against erring officers... ,” the court said.

On the last date of hearing on June 21, the court had asked the BBMP to come out with a comprehensive scheme to prevent encroachment of SWDs, but it has not yet been formulated.

The civic body, however, filed an affidavit stating that it has taken preventive measures to stop encroachments and has taken action for removal of encroachments by conducting survey, marking boundaries, and lodging criminal complaints.

Some encroachments have been removed and some not yet due to interim orders by courts, it said.

CITIZENS and civil society groups staged protests across Karnataka, including Bengaluru, over the horrific Manipur incident wherein two women were paraded naked before one of them was gang raped. They condemned the incident and voiced their anger against the government.

In Bengaluru, people gathered outside Town Hall carrying placards and shouting slogans against the government seeking justice for the women. At Freedom Park, over 400 people from different walks of life protested the heinous crimes in the north-eastern state. Activists and NGOs questioned the BJP-led central government for campaigning during the legislative elections in Karnataka when Manipur was burning.

Vimala KS of All India Democratic Women’s Association (AIDWA) told TNIE, “On May 4, where were PM Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah when law and order was being dismantled? They were busy seeking votes in Karnataka. Our PM has the time to visit different nations, but for 77 days he was mum on the voices being clamped down in Manipur.” She added that slogans such as Beti Bachao, Beti Padho and empowering women are just eyewash.

Diana KH belongs from the Meitei community in Manipur and is residing in the city. She said, “We want everyone to look at us as humans first.” Condemning the actions by both communities, she added that such injustice and violence should not be normalised, and her heart bleeds for Manipur.

Activist Brinda Adige said, “The ignominy of the situation in Manipur, the crimes against women, children and men on both community have made Manipur unsafe. I can’t imagine what the women who were paraded naked must have gone through.”

Many also protested against the internet ban and questioned the “undemocratic” push to not allow media to cover the issues in Manipur. Several college students held placards such with slogans like ‘This government is against women’, ‘Your silence speaks volumes’ and ‘Imagine the number of atrocities masked by the internet shutdown’.

Similar protests were also held in Mysuru and Mangaluru. AC Vinayaraj, Congress spokesperson in Madikeri, said, “We need a new slogan -- BJP Hatao, Beti Bachao -- to protect women.”

> The Central government should act in a manner that restores the confidence of the people not just in Manipur and the North East but the entire nation. The gesture can be a symbolic one, to begin with, but has to be followed up with hard reconciliatory steps in the next few days – HD Deve Gowda, JDS supremo

Kempegowda International Airport saw 11,16,385 flyers in three months this year with June alone accounting for 3,81,739 passengers | EXPRESS

KIA traffic continues to soar, sees 36.8% rise

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

KEMPEGOWDA International Airport (KIA) continues to register a healthy growth trend with 95.78 lakh flyers recorded here during the first quarter of this financial year. This marks a 36.8% increase over the corresponding period the previous year, according to the Airports Authority of India (AAI).

The first quarterly air traffic report across India along with separate data for June have been released. The just concluded quarter reveals a 20.5% increase in flyers in India with a whopping 30.45 million passengers compared to the previous year’s figure of 25.27 million, data reveals.

Of the KIA traffic figures, international patronage has been huge. The airport recorded 11,16,385 flyers in three months compared to 7,55,090 last year. It marks a massive 47.8% increase. Of that, June alone contributed 3,81,739 passengers.

Domestic passengers too have shown a fair increase of 35.5%. Bengaluru saw 84,61,615 flyers up to June this year contrasted with last year’s 62, 46,695 flyers. KIA also recorded a 16.2% increase in Air Traffic Movements (all arrivals and departures) with 60,286 recorded.

Record flyers at HAL too

The HAL airport too witnessed an unprecedented increase in passengers with unprecedented VIP movement in April in connection with election campaigning, a key reason. As compared to 361 passengers from April to June 2022, the corresponding period this year witnessed 5,102 passengers, the data reveals. Last month alone had 1,045 flyers using HAL while it recorded nil usage during June last year.

In other parts of Karnataka, the state’s second busiest airport, Mangaluru, had a mere 1.2% increase over the previous fiscal with 4,62,590 passengers. The recarpeting of the runway that caused closure of the runway for 8.5 hours daily from March 10 to May 28 permitted only a nominal patronage this fiscal. Hubballi airport saw 95,809 passengers, an increase of 40.9%.

Mysuru and Belagavi airports showed a dip in flyers. Mysuru saw a dip of 11.3% with 42,396 passengers this fiscal against 48, 411 last year while Belagavi saw a major dip of 39.2% with just 63,808 flyers as against 1,04,930 last year.

The grounding of Go Air flights appear to have impacted these airports.

Flyer tries to open aircraft door, held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A flyer, who attempted to open one of the doors of an Air France flight to Bengaluru from Paris on July 15, was arrested by Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) police. The incident occurred four hours before flight AFR194 was to land in Bengaluru. The arrested Venkat Mohit Pathipati (29) is out on bail now.

The flight left Charles de Gaulle Airport at 10.55 am (local time) on June 15 and reached KIA by 12.30 am on July 16. According to the FIR, Pathipati, who hails from Rajahmundry in Andhra Pradesh, was employed in a private firm in the US. He was on a personal visit to Bengaluru.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (North East) Laxmi Prasad told TNIE that the complaint filed by the duty manager of Air France India stated that Pathipati attempted to pull the lever on the back door on the left side of the flight. The crew members stopped him and ensured the door remained shut. The complaint was filed as soon as the flight landed in Bengaluru.

Passengers panicked because of Pathipati’s act and he has been booked under Sections 336 of IPC (a rash or negligent act that endangers life or personal safety of others) and 29 of Aircraft Rules 1937 (disorderly conduct in an aircraft that imperils safety of aircraft or passengers). He was released on police station bail, Laxmi Prasad said.

22ND July : The current Venus-Jupiter pattern is perfect for lovers - and for good friends everywhere. According to one of my old books, babies born now will be ‘popular and affectionate’, and will be good at dealing with the public, ‘especially in the way of amusing and entertaining them’! Hopefully, such pleasant indications will bring benefits to all of us.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon is definitely a confidence-booster. On the other hand, it also makes you more sensitive and emotional, so along with extra compassion and care for others comes a risk of self-pity. Exploit whatever little tricks you know to lift your morale.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Opportunities for change and variety should be seized for two reasons. First, they seem to be relatively risk-free, and secondly they make a welcome rest from the long-term trend in your chart, which is profoundly serious. A break is as good as a rest, as they say.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Happily everything which is optimistic, changeable, sociable and full of life is emphasised today. Mind you, you’ll be in no mood to waste your time. As usual, you will do yourself a mighty favour if you listen to partners and give them the first bite of the cherry.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
The happiest individuals could be those at work today. If you’re taking time off then the best leisure pursuits should be those which encourage you to compete, and give you the chance to shine in front of your friends. There’s nothing wrong with showing off!

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may splash out some money if that’s the best way to stay happy. It has been observed that ‘shopping therapy’ really does have beneficial side effects just as long as you spend only that which you have, and not that which belongs to others!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Financial matters grab the headlines. In brief, it’s a fine moment for going shopping, haggling and picking up a few bargains. If you’re in the property market, there could be welcome signs of movement. However, there’s a chance that news which arrives late could make you wonder whether you got a good deal.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
There’s no doubt about it: you will have to do what partners want! However, that doesn’t mean you can’t enjoy yourself. In fact, one of the best ways to have fun may be to put your own desires to one side and experience the world as others do. You never know what you might find!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Please keep busy - and don’t overlook any essential details. You’re moving up to a powerful position at home next week, and the better prepared you are on a practical level, the more space you’ll have for dealing with random emotions. You don’t want to be caught out by unexpected eruptions!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The spark of love could burst into flames if the emotional wind blows from the right direction. Rather than becoming fixated by one particular desire, you should spread your favours around and enjoy whatever life throws at you. Live life to the full!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Even enforced changes in your personal life can do you a power of good. You may imagine that you’re out of the woods, and you are indeed right that life has moved on. However, you should never lose touch with all those incredibly valuable insights you’ve gained.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
What really matters is that you explain yourself. It’s an excellent day for communication, but by the same token if you fail to make yourself clear, especially at home, misunderstandings could multiply. The last thing you want now is for someone important to get the wrong end of the stick.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The Moon is in a favourable position, one which brings out your desire for travel and adventure. Even if you are forced to stay put today, there may be ways in which you can plan for future excitement. You need to let a partner off the hook, by the way. If you do, then they won’t forget your kindness.

A 26-year-old is suspected to have committed suicide by falling in front of a moving train between Tekal and Bangarpet in the Bengaluru Railway Divison. The incident took place around 3 pm on Friday. The Aadhar card found on his person shows him to be a resident of Kolar, the police said

TRAFFIC COP ASSAULTED FOR CLAMPING CAR, 2 HELD

Vehicle parked in no-parking zone; Cops says beaten for doing duty

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 30-year-old traffic constable attached to Banaswadi Traffic Police Station was brutally attacked by two men for clamping the wheels of their car, which was parked in a no-parking zone on Wednesday evening.

The two men allegedly called the constable, M Umesh, on his mobile, saying they had to rush someone to hospital. When he reached the spot, they started arguing with him and repeatedly punched his face and head, though he removed the clamp to allow them to attend to the emergency. The men, K Suleman and Fahad, were part of a group of five, including two women.

The incident happened around 6.20pm in front of the SBI ATM on 5th Main of HRBR Layout.

Though many people stopped to watch, nobody came to his rescue. Finally, one motorist stopped the men and helped the constable to move away.

The men were arrested by Banaswadi police on Thursday night. They were booked under IPC 332 and 353 for causing hurt, assault and using criminal force to deter a public servant from discharge of duty, besides other sections of the IPC. Senior traffic police officers told TNIE the accused would be severely dealt with.

Luckily for Umesh, the incident was captured on CCTV and a video has gone viral. Without CCTV footage, he would have found it tough to prove he was attacked. Unlike law and order police, traffic police don't have a lathi or gun to defend themselves.

Umesh told TNIE he was beaten for doing his duty. "After putting the clamp, I was attending to another traffic violation. The accused called me on my number which was on the challan, and said somebody had to be rushed to hospital. I immediately went and removed the wheel clamp. Despite that, I was beaten. I was not aware of any emergency. I could not even reciprocate as I was alone, and the public would have turned against me," Umesh said.

"These days, even asking motorists to obey traffic rules results in arguments, and somebody makes a video and posts it on social media to make it look like the traffic police is at fault," he added.

DCP Traffic (East) Kala Krishnaswamy said people don't like being asked to follow rules. "Traffic cops are vulnerable because they are alone. Anything we do is seen as wrong," she said.

"We have viewed the incident seriously. The constable was doing his duty. The accused attacked him without any provocation. I have not seen such an assault on a traffic cop after I took charge as Joint Commissioner. We don't bother with verbal altercations, but this is a proper assault. Traffic constables don't carry lathis or arms and are vulnerable," MN Anucheth, Joint Commissioner of Police - Traffic, told TNIE.

K'taka HC stays proceedings against Jain varsity students

BENGALURU: The Karnataka High Court stayed criminal proceedings initiated against seven students of Jain Deemed-to-be University for allegedly hurting the sentiments of persons belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act by staging the play as part of 'Mad Ads', a satirical drama skit which revolves around the reservation system. Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the interim order of stay after hearing the petition filed by the students, questioning the registration of crime. The court stayed the proceedings initiated against teachers, who had directed the skit, on July 5, 2023, on the same issue. ENS

Man who killed aged parents held in Kodagu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madikeri

A twenty-seven-year-old man, who has been accused of murdering his parents in Bengaluru, was nabbed by the police in Kodagu district. The man, identified as Sharath, has now been taken into custody by the Kodigehalli police. On Thursday night, residents of Madenadu in Kodagu called 112 to report a man who was suspiciously walking around the village. The police rushed to the spot and inquired about the whereabouts of the man. However, it is said that he did not answer properly even as the police suspected him to be mentally ill. Following this, the man was shifted to the District Hospital in Madikeri even as police continued with their probe.

During the interrogation at the hospital, it was revealed that the man in question was Sharath, a resident of Kodigehalli in Bengaluru who had allegedly murdered his parents Bhaskar (61) and Shantha (60) on July 17. Madikeri Rural Police immediately alerted the Kodigehalli police. It is learnt that Sharath travelled to Puttur in Dakshina Kannada district after the alleged crime and reached Madikeri on Thursday. Kodigehalli police visited Madikeri and took Sharath into custody.

Auto driver attacks car, makes murder attempt on techie, family in Whitefield

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 42-year-old IT professional, his wife and their five-year-old child had a horrifying experience after a violent autorickshaw driver allegedly attacked their car and broke the windshield in a road rage incident.

Nilabh Pandey and his family, who live at Prestige Lakeside Habitat apartments in Whitefield, were returning home from Manipal Hospital around noon on Tuesday. The incident happened on 16th Cross, 8th Main of BEML Layout in Whitefield police limits.

The accused, HN Darshan, 21, stopped the car and demanded that the family step out. He claimed that the car had suddenly come in front of his auto without any indication. He broke the windscreen wipers and kept damaging the car, but the family refused to step out as there was a serious threat to their lives. Darshan then broke the windshield, sending broken glass pieces on to Nilabh's wife, injuring her. The couple pushed their child into the rear seat to safeguard him, and sped away.

They called the family doctor home for treatment as they were afraid to visit the hospital, fearing the auto driver was waiting outside.

Pandey filed a complaint with Whitefield police, who registered a case of attempt to murder, arrested Darshan and seized his auto. "The autorickshaw driver, HN Darshan of Kaggadasapura in HAL, and a native of Harosomanahalli of Channarayapatna in Hassan, was arrested and remanded in judicial custody. The accused was booked for attempt to murder (IPC 307). The autorickshaw has also been seized," Whitefield division DCP S Girish told TNIE.

"The accused stopped the victim's car stating that they suddenly came in front of his auto. He started hitting the bonnet and abusing them. When Pandey refused to get out of the car, the accused rushed towards his wife and tried to attack her. She immediately closed the window and the accused broke the wipers and started smashing the windscreen and side glasses of the car. The woman sustained injuries on her ears and hands and started bleeding. He even threatened to call his friends to the spot," said an officer, quoting the complainant's statement. When contacted, Pandey said a complaint was filed but refused to comment about the incident.

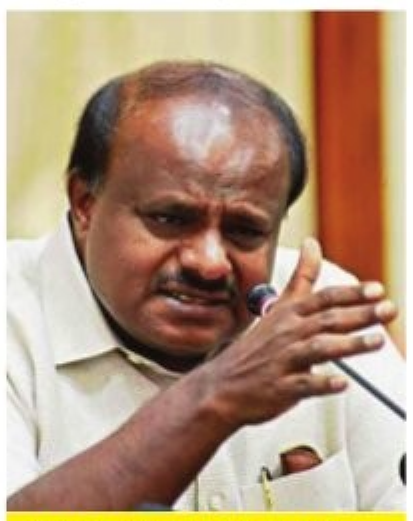
‘Legislators want me to take decision that is best for party’

BANSY KALAPPA
@ Bengaluru



INTERVIEW
HD KUMARASWAMY

JANATA Dal (Secular) has decided to go with Bharatiya Janata Party. At the official JDS Legislature Party meeting called on Thursday, the party legislators discussed the issue of joining either the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) or the grouping of secular opposition parties — I.N.D.I.A (Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance).

The legislators, giving full authority to senior leader HD Kumarswamy, told him to “do whatever that you deem fit to save the party”. The decision to give the authority to Kumaraswamy was passed without a single objection from the 19 MLAs and seven MLCs. It appears that Kumaraswamy’s heart is with BJP and not Congress, since Congress in the state does not need JDS support.

Kumaraswamy spoke exclusively to The New Indian Express. Excerpts:

The JDLP meeting on Thursday gave you all the authority to take a decision to align with either BJP or Congress...
There is no question of going with Congress. It is not necessary for them to seek our support.

Even earlier during the eight review meetings soon after the Assembly results, none of the JDS leaders objected to the party going with BJP. There was unanimity that you should do what is in the best interest of the party, even going with BJP.
The party leaders and MLAs are unanimous that we should take a decision that is good for the party in the future. They opine that party interests are paramount. Meeting after meeting only reiterated the same point.

Party insiders say you will go abroad for about 10 days and return on August 4. After that the final shape of the alliance with BJP will be decided...
Yes, I will be going out for about ten days and the finer details will be decided after that.

Will you merge the party with BJP or join NDA as a partner or will the alliance remain just an understanding?
There is no question of a merger. We will retain our independent identity. The other details and nitty-gritty will be worked out later.

Will you be the leader of the opposition? Earlier, JDS managed to ally with BJP and got Basavraj Horatti elected as chairman of the Upper House...
BJP will decide who will be the leader of the opposition. It will be someone from BJP and not JDS.

How many Lok Sabha seats would JDS like to contest from? Will it be eight as in 2019 ? What about zilla panchayat/ taluk panchayat and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanaghara Palike polls?
These details will be worked out only much later and it is too premature for that. These are just the preliminary stages.

There is talk of you becoming a minister in the Union cabinet...
There has been no such talk, and any such talk is completely premature. Nothing like that has been discussed or decided until now.

CM to BJP: Protest before Godse’s statue, not Gandhi’s

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah makes a point in the Legislative Council on Friday; BJP leaders protest in front of the statue of Mahatma Gandhi outside Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah slammed the BJP and JDS legislators for boycotting the legislature session and took a jibe at the saffron party legislators for protesting in front of the Mahatma Gandhi statue, saying instead they should have protested before the statue of Nathuram Godse.

While replying to the debate on the budget in the Council on Saturday, Siddaramaiah said BJP and JDS boycotting the proceedings show their anti-people and anti-democratic attitude. He said it is an irony that the BJP leaders are sitting in front of Gandhi’s statue instead of protesting in front of Godse’s statue. “They (BJP) belong to the family of those who killed Gandhi. What moral right do they have to sit in front of Gandhi statue and seek justice?” he thundered.

Siddaramaiah also attacked PM Modi and said the latter has pushed the country into a debt trap. “Since independence, the borrowings of the country was Rs 53 lakh crore but in the last 10 years, the Centre has borrowed Rs 118 lakh crore,” he said, adding that Modi was responsible for inflation. Noting that people were happy about the guarantee schemes, the CM said Rs.35,410 crore is required for the schemes for the remaining period of the current financial year and there is a concrete action plan to mobilise resources. “Rs 34,654-crore resources will be mobilised for the guarantee schemes which include Rs 13,500 crore additional tax collection, additional loan of Rs 8,068 crore, Rs 6,086 crore through re-prioritisation of capital investment and Rs 7,000 crore through reprioritisation of revenue projects,” he said.

Reiterating that he will not let Karnataka go financially bankrupt, the CM said the size of the budget he presented is Rs 3,26,747 crore, which is 22% more than 2022-23. He said 76 programmes mentioned in the Congress poll manifesto have been announced in the budget.

Stating that 23 crore passengers have availed Shakti facility so far, the CM said 1.16 crore families have already registered under the Gruha Jyoti scheme. He said Rs 337.08 crore has been transferred to 4.42 crore beneficiaries of 57.51 lakh families so far under the Anna Bhagya scheme.

“During 2013-18, our government implemented various programmes with a budget of Rs. 7.27 lakh crore... but the BJP, which spent Rs 12.29 lakh crore failed to implement development works by citing Covid-19 as the reason for everything,” the CM said, adding that the government ordering an investigation into the Bitcoin scam, PSI recruitment scam, Covid-19 equipment/ drug procurement scam etc had scared the BJP leaders.

After the CM’s response, the Karnataka Appropriation (No -2) Bill, 2023 was passed in the Council.

On average, 92% MLAs attended session: Khader

Speaker UT Khader addresses the media in Bengaluru on Friday

THE 15-day legislature session that concluded on Friday witnessed proceedings for 78 hours and 25 minutes. It also saw over 92 per cent attendance of MLAs on an average, which is a good start, said Speaker UT Khader here on Friday. After the session concluded, he said the Speaker’s chair received 1,149 questions, most of which were answered. The MLAs discussed 16 issues during the zero hour.

Khader said they had organised an educational platform, where officials briefed legislators on new bills being introduced. In all, 14 bills were passed.

To inculcate punctuality among MLAs, Khader said he used to read out the names of those who came on time to the House to encourage them.

Khader said if the 10 suspended BJP MLAs had written to him seeking to reduce their days of suspension, the House had the powers to take it up. “I did not suspend all those staging a dharna, but only those who threw papers at the Speaker’s chair. I did it with pain, but their actions were a black mark on the Assembly,” the Speaker added.

“They had sought time to discuss the issue of the government deputing IAS officers for the opposition parties’ conclave. I agreed, but they still sat on dharna,” he said.

On attending a dinner hosted by the chief minister, he said, “Siddaramaiah had hosted it for state VIPs and he invited me. I did not take part in any discussion or meeting. I did not cross my limits.”

The Assembly session ended on a bad note as BJP and JDS MLAs boycotted the session on Thursday and Friday over Khader suspending BJP MLAs. JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy too walked out, showing solidarity with the suspended legislators. The opposition benches were empty except for Gali Janardhana Reddy of Kalyana Rajya Pragathi Paksha.

BJP, JDS decide to jointly fight against NICE ‘irregularities’

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AS the legislature session ended on Friday, Opposition parties — BJP and JDS — decided to fight against alleged irregularities in the Nandi Infrastructure Corridor Enterprises (NICE) road project.

At a joint press conference, former CMs HD Kumaraswamy from JDS and Basavaraj Bommai from BJP said they will fight together. They demanded that the State Government announce a judicial inquiry into the project and take back 13,000 acres of additional land acquired by NICE. The government should also seize Rs 1,325 crore NICE collected as toll till now.

Kumaraswamy said that if the project is scrapped, the government can get at least Rs 30,000 crore revenue that can be used to fund the guarantees. “The government has all the powers to withdraw the NICE project. But it should make its stand clear,” the duo demanded.

Targeting DyCM DK Shivakumar, Kumaraswamy alleged that the one who is talking about ‘Brand Bengaluru’ is hand in glove with NICE. He said as per a clause in the agreement with NICE, the infrastructure company was not allowed to collect the toll without building a concrete road before 2012. But so far, the company has collected Rs 1,325 crore, which the government has to seize.

Kumaraswamy said that both the TB Jayachandra committee and a cabinet sub-committee, headed by JC Madhu Swamy, had pointed out irregularities in the project. Even the Supreme Court order said the government has the powers to initiate action against NICE. But nothing has been done, and the government should take action, he added. “We wanted to raise the issue in the Assembly, but we could not as JDS boycotted the session after the Speaker suspended 10 BJP MLAs,” he said.

Bommai said the collaboration between the two parties will not end here and it will be taken further. “The cabinet subcommittee during our government had recommended that the additional land with NICE should be taken back. Now that the Congress government is in power, it should do it. NICE is using the additional land for real estate.”

HDK living a short-lived dream: Expert

JDS sources said their party hopes to win a few Lok Sabha seats with BJP’s support. JDS wants to contest Bengaluru Rural, Mandya, Hassan, and Tumakuru LS constituencies. However, this proposal is in its initial stage, the sources added.

In 2006, Kumaraswamy became CM for the first time with BJP’s support.

While BJP is yet to announce its candidate for the post of Leader of Opposition in the Assembly, JDS, with 19 MLAs, has already declared Kumaraswamy as its floor leader. Kumaraswamy backed BJP when it took on the government on various issues, including suspension of its 10 MLAs.

A political expert said Kumaraswamy joining hands with BJP or NDA would not be a good idea for JDS, which has its own identity in Karnataka. “If he thinks BJP has no strong candidate to become Leader of Opposition or BJP needs JDS’ support, he is living a short-lived dream,” the expert added.

Guarantees will affect fiscal discipline of state: Petitioner

THE petitioner appealed to the court to declare Siddaramaiah’s election as void and debar him from contesting elections for six years under the provisions of the Act. He contended that guarantee cards were given to voters and their consent taken to vote in favour of Siddaramaiah. But the guarantees are not being implemented as promised.

Referring to the Shakti scheme, one of the guarantees, the petitioner claimed that it had been implemented without considering its adverse impact on private bus operators and autorickshaw and private cab owners. He alleged that the five guarantees will affect the fiscal discipline of the state government which will not be able to generate adequate revenues.

The schemes providing for free bus rides and monthly allowances to women infringe Article 14 of the constitution by discriminating against men. There can’t be any gender-based discrimination. Even women government employees and wealthy landowners are allowed to travel in state-run buses without fares. In fact, lakhs of government employees are getting fuel allowances. Now, with these schemes, they are getting double benefits at the cost of taxpayers, he stated.

Two Bills passed in Council

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prohibition of Transfer of Certain Lands) (Amendment) Bill, 2023 and the Karnataka Motor Vehicles Taxation (Amendment) Bill, 2023 were passed in the Legislative Council, on Friday — the last day of the Budget session of the state Legislature.

State to write to Centre seeking easing of drought norms

ENS @ Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Friday took a dig at the Centre as its manual with strict guidelines, revised in 2016, has turned into an impediment to the state to declare certain taluks as drought-hit. The state will write to the Centre, seeking simplification of the guidelines.

Replying to MLAs who had sought that their respective assembly constituencies be declared drought-hit in the assembly, Krishna informed that a detailed letter by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah would be sent to the Centre, urging it to simplify the guidelines.

“Earlier, the guidelines were flexible but now 60 % of rain deficit and three weeks of dry spell is the condition, besides ground water moisture and satellite imaging of the area. If these parameters are not fulfilled, the taluks cannot be declared drought-hit. If it’s moderate, the state has to manage with its own funds,” he clarified. However, he said the cabinet sub-committee headed by him will hold a meeting by the end of July and take a call on declaring the taluks drought-hit, after consulting the CM.

Gowda informed that scarcity of rain, which was at 56% in June, has declined to 29% due to normal rain in the month of July. Four reservoirs in the Cauvery catchment area are getting an overall inflow of 18,687 cusecs and six in Krishna basin are getting 78,264 cusecs, while Almatti dam is receiving 32,146 cusecs,he said.

On the drinking water supply scenario, Gowda said there is no scarcity of funds as the government will release Rs 1 crore in addition to the Rs 1 crore already released to every district, in a day or two.

But the MLAs, including J T Patil and Vijayananda Kashappanavar, urged the government to release Rs 1 crore to each taluk reeling under drought. Speaker UT Khader suggested that a task force under the chairmanship of the MLAs concerned could be set up to supervise the drought situation as was the practice in the past.

Will Opposition parties under I.N.D.I.A be able to do a 1977?

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Bengaluru

THE unifying efforts of opposition parties over the last few weeks to form an alliance to defeat Prime Minister Narendra Modi and NDA brings back to memory the days of 1977 when the entire spectrum of opposition parties had come together under the banner of Janata Party to defeat Indira Gandhi-led Congress.

Parallels can be drawn between the new alliance of 26 parties, termed the Indian National Democratic Inclusive Alliance (I.N.D.I.A), and the then Janata Party that took India by storm four-and-a-half decades ago. Then, it was a battle to defeat Indira Gandhi, who had declared an Emergency and put political leaders behind bars, including Moraji Desai and Jayaprakash Narayan, popularly known as JP who was a great force behind the movement. She had also cracked down on non-Congress governments. The Bharatiya Jan Sangh, Bharatiya Lok Dal, Congress (O) and Socialist Party were among the political entities that came together and defeated the Indira-led Congress by a huge margin.

Non-Congress parties had carried out an electoral battle with a mission to end dictatorship and restore democracy. Similarly, the I.N.D.I.A grouping too aims to end, what it calls, Modi’s authoritarianism and his idea of India. The opposition parties that have come together on the common platform want to be the voice of the people and protect the true spirit of the Constitution. Opposition parties, including Congress, Trinamool Congress, Samajwadi Party, RJD, JDU , DMK, CPI(M), CPI , Shiv Sena, NCP and others, allege that there is an undeclared emergency in the country and point to rising unemployment, inflation, infringing on the freedom of the press and targeting non-BJP-ruled states.

AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge expressed confidence that choosing a leader for the alliance and seat sharing will not be a big issue, but it is not that simple, considering the big contradictions among various alliance partners in their respective states.

The alliance has to overcome a few hurdles if it wants to repeat 1977. The leaders, who are meeting again in Mumbai, have to thrash out contradictions, discuss seat sharing in non-Congress-ruled states and take hard decisions, instead of dragging their feet and glossing over individual ambitions. The Janata Party then too had buried differences under the carpet to achieve a larger objective and faltered midway.

If I.N.D.I.A has to be successful, it has to do well in Hindi-speaking states other than in South India if it wants to stop Modi from making a hat-trick. In 1977, the Janata Party had ensured that Congress was wiped out in Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Himachal Pradesh.

VK Natraj, former director, Madras Institute of Development Studies, pointed out that the new alliance does not have a leader of JP’s stature or influence. The new grouping may make an impact, but not to the anticipated scale. BJP will, however, pay a price for its mistakes, he added.

Asked whether the opposition alliance is keen to repeat 1977, AICC spokesperson Pawab Khera said that every era has a different model and claimed that I.N.D.I.A will do a 1977 to unseat Modi. He said Modi and BJP are jittery as people are against the government and its anti-people policies.

Law to regulate pvt sugar mills in K’taka?

BENGALURU: Sugar Minister Shivanand Patil said discussions are on to bring out a new law to regulate private sugar mills in the state. “A few mills obtain a licence to crush 5,000 tonnes of cane per day but crush 10,000-15,000 tonnes. It has been happening for years now. Since there is no law to regulate them, we are planning a law,” Patil told the Assembly. He said the sugar department in January had raided 20 mills and filed a report saying there was no malpractice. “But I do not believe the report. If CM Siddaramaiah backs me, I will fix the problem,” he said. The minister promised that the government would set up automatic weighing machines at private sugar mills. ENS

> We have jointly adopted a vision document for our Economic Partnership, aiming to strengthen maritime, air, energy, and people-to-people connectivity between our nations — PM Narendra Modi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday asked Sri Lankan President Ranil Wickremesinghe to ensure a life of dignity for the Tamil community living in the country and adopt a humane approach towards Indian fishermen who inadvertently stray into Lankan waters.

"We hope the Sri Lankan government will fulfil the aspirations of the Tamils, driving the process of equality, justice, and peace, while honouring the commitment to 13th Amendment and conducting the Provincial Council Elections," PM Modi said.The two leaders held extensive bilateral discussions on several issues of mutual interest. Later, they announced a raft of initiatives including expediting work to connect electricity grids, conducting a feasibility study for a petroleum pipeline, and examining the viability of a land bridge to boost connectivity between the two countries.

The Unified Payments Interface (UPI), trade in rupee, and increased air connectivity between the two nations also came up for discussion. Both sides also agreed to improve air connectivity and establish a passenger ferry service between Nagapattinam in TN and Kankesanthurai in Sri Lanka.

"We have jointly adopted a vision document for our Economic Partnership, aiming to strengthen maritime, air, energy, and people-to-people connectivity between our nations. This vision emphasizes mutual cooperation in tourism, power, trade, higher education, and skill development, reflecting India's long-term commitment to Sri Lanka," said PM Modi.

In light of the economic crisis that hit Sri Lanka a year ago, India has extended financial support of close to $4 billion in the form of loans and grants in aid. Investments, involving private companies in certain projects, are also being considered.

Will respect Cauvery panel's decision: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister and Water Resources Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday said they will respect the Cauvery Water Management Authority's decision on releasing water to Tamil Nadu.

Responding to a question Tamil Nadu government approaching the Centre seeking directions to Karnataka to release Cauvery water, the minister said this year rainfall in Karnataka is below normal, but they can consider releasing available water. The decision is with the CWMA and the state government respects its decision, the DyCM said.

The CWMA has to take into consideration drinking water needs before deciding on the releasing water, he said and added that the state is hoping for good rainfall in the next two days.

The state has received good rains in the last two years, he said.

Tamil Nadu government has approached the Centre seeking directions to Karnataka to release water to save kuruvai paddy in thousands of acres.

Moral policing: 3 Bajrang Dal men get notice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

THE Mangaluru city police issued show-cause notices to three Bajrang Dal activists for indulging in repeated incidents of 'moral policing' and asked them to appear before Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) Anshu Kumar, who asked as to why they should not be banished from Mangaluru city police commissionerate limits or Dakshina Kannada district for their acts.

Police Commissioner Kuldeep Kumar R Jain said on Friday the department is invoking the Goonda Act against repeat offenders. As many as 62 people who were indulging in criminal activities repeatedly were externed this year, he added.

"We invoke the Goonda Act against whoever indulges in repeat offenses. We have issued show-cause notices against three accused who were involved in two 'moral policing' cases and we have sought an explanation from them," he said. The trio could be externed for one year.

Balachandra, Ganesh Attavar and Jayaprakash were accused of assaulting a youth from a minority community inside a jewellery shop for accompanying a woman from another faith on December 6 last year. They had also disrupted a Holi party at Maroli in March this year.

Balachandra and Ganesh are facing five cases, while Jayaprakash seven. The police had made them sign a security bond with an undertaking that they would not indulge in anti-social activities earlier, yet they breached it.

This year, the police have banished 62 to different districts. The police have also taken an undertaking from 987 accused not to indulge in criminal activities and 12 persons who breached the undertaking have been penalised and sent to judicial custody.

Four killed as car rams tipper in Sakleshpur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hassan

FOUR youths were killed on the spot in a head-on collision between a MUV and a tipper near Eshwarahalli Kudige on Bengaluru-Mangaluru national highway 75 in Sakleshpur taluk on Friday evening.

The police said the deceased have been identified as Chetan (22) of Kuppahalli, Ashok (21) of Guddenahalli, Purushotam (23) of Tattekere and Dinesh (20) of Chigaluru villages near Hassan city.

All the deceased were friends and were going on a jolly ride to Sakleshpur when the accident occurred. According to the locals, rash and negligent driving is the reason for the accident.

The Toyota Innova hit the oncoming tipper while overtaking another vehicle.

Alur police rushed to the spot where vehicular traffic was disrupted for half an hour. The police had a tough time in removing the bodies from the mangled remains of the car.

The police took the help of the crane to separate the car and the tipper as half of the portion of the car got stuck under the tipper.

The police have seized the tipper and shifted the bodies to the mortuary in Hassan. A case has been booked and investigation is underway.

Visually impaired wife donates hubby's organs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A visually impaired wife who recently lost her husband in Bengaluru chose to donate multiple organs of his body, saving the lives of six people.

The family of the deceased 52-year-old farmer from Kolar donated his heart, lungs, two kidneys and corneas after he passed away at Sparsh Hospital, Yeshwanthpur on July 20. He had suffered from brain haemorrhage due to uncontrolled blood pressure and was transferred to Bengaluru on July 18 as his condition worsened. He was declared brain dead on Thursday.

Doctors said it was commendable that the family members considered the importance of organ donation and made this decision despite suffering from loss.

Joseph Pasangha, group COO, Sparsh Hospital commented, "This remarkable act not only honours the memory of the departed husband but also serves as a powerful reminder of the importance of organ donation. It's truly heartening to see the donor's visually impaired wife come forward to donate his corneas as well, giving the gift of sight to someone in need."

Officials from the State Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisation (SOTTO) immediately initiated the process of organ donation taking written consent from the family. The recipients were selected as per the waiting list.

Cabinet to take call on issuing more BPL/APL cards: Min

BENGALURU: Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Friday clarified that a decision on issuing BPL and APL cards to more families will be taken in the next Cabinet meeting as people have applied for the same across Karnataka. He was replying after MLA UB Banakar said people need these cards to avail the government's guarantees and are approaching him after the issuance of the cards were stopped three years ago. The minister said, "We have crossed the Centre's limit of 60% and given cards to 80% of the population. A decision will be taken in the Cabinet." Meanwhile, Sringeri MLA TD Rajegowda drew the attention of Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre on the issue of elephant menace in Chikkamagaluru district. "We sought Rs 250 crore in the budget to tackle man-animal conflict... but just Rs 120 crore has been allocated. Only 312.5km has been barricaded of the 640km due to scarcity of funds. It requires Rs 1.5 crore for every km and we will try to barricade at least 150km more," he added.

Kannada and culture minister asks Centre not to close regional channels

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SHIVARAJ S Tangadagi, Minister for Backward Classes Welfare and Kannada and Culture, on Friday, penned a letter to Anurag Thakur, Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting, expressing his anguish over closing regional channels.

In the letter, he stated that the union government is promoting the programmes of the central government through Prasar Bharathi, which also includes Prime Minister's Mann Ki Baat, and is also airing recorded versions in regional languages. He said that the political aspirations of the BJP government would have been fulfilled and hence it has been accepted without visible resentment. But the regional channel called Rainbow FM 101.3 in Karnataka, which commands lakhs of listeners is being sidelined and is being considered for closure anytime soon, Tangadagi noted.

He also said this news is a rude shock for the Kannadigas, especially Bengalureans, who are emotionally attached to the channel. The channel also has over 30 lakh listeners not just in Karnataka, but across the world. This is not desired by our people and it hurts to see Hindi channels being promoted excessively, he said in the letter. He asked the Centre to look into the matter in a more considerable manner and do away with closing down the regional channels.

Kerala's wild elephant population declines by 58%

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

WHERE did the wild elephants vanish? That was the question which disturbed the conservation activists in Kerala as state forest minister A K Saseendran released the wild elephant enumeration figures for 2023 on Friday.

While the forest department claimed the figures were accurate as sophisticated technology was employed, farmers questioned the authenticity of the technology used, citing the increase in man -elephant conflict along forest fringe areas.

As per the data shared by the forest department, there were only 2,386 wild elephants in Kerala. Compared to the enumeration conducted in 2017, when there were 5,706 wild elephants in the state, the decline is 58.19% in six years.

The state had 7,490 wild elephants as per the enumeration conducted in 2011, which means the state lost 68.2% of its elephants in 12 years.

The elephant enumeration was conducted from May 17 to 19 across the state and 1382 people including staff and forest watchers were involved in the exercise.

Explaining the drastic decline in elephant population, forest minister A K Saseendran said elephants usually migrate to neighbouring state during summer season due to water scarcity and wildfire.

Hot climate was prevailing in Kerala in May and there was copious rain in Karnataka which would have prompted migration. Enumeration was conducted during the same time in 2017, but there was drought in Karnataka and Kerala had good rains, he said.

Conservation activist and Animal Welfare Board member M N Jayachandran said the enumeration has disproved the allegations of overpopulation.

"Habitat deterioration, disruption of elephant corridors, destruction of grasslands are the reasons for the decline in population. The grassland of Chinnakanal, an elephant habitat is a classic example. There has been a decline in reproduction. A large number of elephants have died due to herpes virus infection," he said.

According to S Guruvayoorappan of Wildlife Protection Society of India, installation of electric fences along the forest boundary, poaching and fragmentation of forest are reasons for the decline in population.

The claims of migration can be proved only by comparing the data of neighbouring states, he said.

KCET document verification from July 24

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Common Entrance Test candidates who have changed or modified their applications to claim reservations must appear for document verification between July 24 and August 1, the KEA has announced.

KEA Executive Director S Ramya said this is also applicable for candidates seeking admission into all medical, dental, ayurveda, unani and naturopathy courses. "Karnataka candidates, who are eligible to claim reservation as per state government norms, linguistic minority, religious minority, or NRI ward category, or those who are eligible to claim seats under Category-2 to Category-8 in St John's Medical College (Bengaluru), need to appear for document verification with all relevant original certificates/documents," she said. Meanwhile, non-Karnataka candidates who qualified under UGNEET 2023 and are eligible to claim NRI ward category, religious minority or Category-2 to Category-8 at St John's Medical College will also need to appear for document verification.

PART II—Section 3—Sub-section (ii)
PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY
No. 1345] NEW DELHI, THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 2023/CHAITRA 2, 1945

MINISTRY OF COAL

NOTIFICATION

New Delhi, the 23rd March, 2023

S.O. 1398(E).—Whereas by the notification of the Government of India in the Ministry of Coal, S.O. 2786(E), dated the 17th June, 2022 issued under sub-section (1) of section-4 of the Coal Bearing Areas (Acquisition and Development) Act, 1957 (20 of 1957) (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), published in Gazette of India, part II, Section 3, sub-section(ii), dated the 17th June,2022, the Central Government gave notice of its intention to prospect for coal in 729.84 hectares (approximately) of the lands in the locality specified in the Schedule annexed to that notification;

And, whereas the Central Government is satisfied that coal is obtainable in a part of the said lands prescribed in the Schedule appended to this notification;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 7 of the said Act, the Central Government hereby gives notice of its intention to acquire the land measuring 666.273 hectares (approximately) or 1646.361 (approximately) and all rights in or over the said land as described in the Schedule appended hereto;

Note 1: The plan bearing number PO/BBSRI/SURVEY/2022/695, dated the 9th January, 2023 of the area covered by this notification may be inspected at the office of the Collector, District Angul (Odisha) or at the office of the Coal Controller, Coal Controller's Organisation, Ministry of Coal, Core-II, 5 th Floor, Scope Minar, Laxmi Nagar, Delhi-110 092 or at the office of the Director (Personnel), Mahanadi Coalfields Limited, Jagruti Vihar, Post Office Jagruti Vihar, Burla, District Sambalpur (Odisha).

Note 2 : Attention is hereby invited to the provisions of section 8 of the said Act, which provide as follows:-

"8. Objections to acquisition.- (1) Any person interested in land in respect of which a notification under section 7 has been issued may, within thirty days of the issue of the notification, object to the acquisition of the whole or any part of the land or of any rights in or over such land.

Explanation.- It shall not be an objection within the meaning of this section for any person to say that he himself desires to undertake mining operation in the land for the production of coal and that such operations should not be undertaken by the Central Government or by any other person.

(2) Every objection under sub -section (1) shall be made to the competent authority in writing, and the competent authority shall give the objector an opportunity of being heard either in person or by a legal practitioner and shall, after hearing all such objections after making such further inquiry , if any, as he thinks necessary, either make a report in respect of the land which has been notified under sub-section (1) of section 7 or of rights in or over such land, or make different reports in respect of different parcels of such land or of rights in or over such land, to the Central Government , containing his recommendations on the objections, together with the record of the proceedings held by him, for the decision of that Government.

(3) For the purposes of this section, a person shall be deemed to be interested in land who would be entitled to claim an interest in compensation if the land or any rights in or over such land were acquired under this Act."

Note 3 : The Coal Controller, Office of the Coal Controller, Coal Controller's Organisation, Ministry of Coal, Core-II, 5th Floor, Scope Minar, Laxmi Nagar, Delhi-110 092 has been appointed by the Central Government as the Competent Authority under section 3 of the said Act, vide notification number S.O. 2015, dated 10th July, 1995 published in the Gazette of India, Part II, Section 3, Sub-section (ii), dated the 22nd July, 1995.

BRIDGE DIVIDE OR WOMEN WILL CONTINUE TO BEAR BRUNT IN MANIPUR

This week a video of two women stripped naked, paraded, groped and assaulted by a mob of men in Manipur went viral on social media. Amid national outrage, action followed swiftly, and four accused were arrested. The devil is in the details, though: The incident occurred on May 4, and an FIR was registered two weeks later. Yet, it took over two months for the state machinery to swing into action, the criminal indifference bolstering the impunity with which such mobs have acted.

In a patriarchal world, 'othered' communities are almost always targeted by the enactment of brutal violence on the bodies of women in those communities. Multiple reports have shown that this is the case in Manipur. However, the ongoing internet ban in the state, ostensibly to thwart the spread of fake news and disinformation, has worsened matters. Fake news spread through multiple media alleging sexual violence against Meitei women could not be effectively countered, although authorities termed the news to have no merit. Reports suggest that the mobs sexually assaulting Kuki women have referred to this fake narrative in targeting them. Meanwhile, with law and order having effectively collapsed in the state, without access to the Internet, survivors have been left with little to no means of finding justice, and civil society with few ways to hold the state to account.

While the roots of the conflict in Manipur may run too deep to be removed overnight, there is no doubt that the state has failed. Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who broke his silence on Manipur only on Thursday after the video of the violence surfaced, glossed over the conflict in the state that contributed to the assault, clubbing an act of targeted violence against a community with the sexual violence faced by women across India every day. In urging all chief ministers to act to prevent such violence, he also glossed over the complicity in Manipur's unrest of his BJP colleague, CM N Biren Singh, whose actions have appeared entirely partisan. Manipur has been on fire for over two months. The PM's words must be followed by action on the ground. The Centre must move in, bridge the divide between the communities, and return a semblance of normalcy to the state. Until that happens, women's bodies will continue to be targeted to warn and humiliate 'othered' communities, and face the brunt of the unspooling violence.

SLOW GROWTH, SLOWER HIRING MARKS IT SECTOR

India's IT sector has brought into focus its near-term growth prospects. Besides hiring freezes and salary hike delays, the latest setback includes an anticipated decline in revenue and profits in the current fiscal. The biggest shocker came from IT services bellwether Infosys, which on Thursday lowered its revenue guidance to a 15-year low of 1–3.5% for FY24, down from its previous estimate of 4–7% issued in April. The substantial cut in the guidance was attributed to lower-than-expected volume and discretionary spending among clients, delays in decision-making, push-outs in mega deals and lastly, a distinct 'stopping or slowing down' of contracts amid looming recession fears—a common grief shared by others including TCS. But analysts believe the lower guidance was more of a perception issue than an operational one, as the earlier guidance was overtly optimistic.

Still, that doesn't rule out the sector's deepening troubles. Just a few quarters ago, global IT and technology companies saw a massive round of layoffs. While layoffs in India were minimal, the overall hiring numbers remained low. However, what's disappointing isn't the tepid hiring trend but the companies' unusual decision not to publish hiring targets for FY24, indicating the unknown depths of economic uncertainty. In a complete departure from the past, at least four large IT firms—including TCS, Wipro, Infosys and HCL Tech—refused to provide hiring targets. In addition, companies like Infosys and HCL Tech have even deferred salary hikes at various levels to save costs and boost profits to please investors. This is the first time since 2020 that increments were put on hold.

What's evident is the fact that revenue will remain under pressure, thanks to the near-term weakness across sectors like retail, financial services, hi-tech and communications, which account for 50–60% of the IT companies' client portfolio. As a sector analyst noted, the worst on the macro front is ahead and not behind us. As it is, the sector's growth crashed to 8.4% in FY23, down from 15% in FY22, according to Nasscom data. In FY24, Icra expects revenue growth to slow further to mid-single digits amid intensifying headwinds. But now isn't the time for the $250-billion IT sector to bow down. It must continuously build for the future with emerging technological capabilities like generative AI, and deploy a prudent approach to manpower, emphasising quality over quantity.

QUICK TAKE

NEED A BEAT-THE-HEAT POLICY

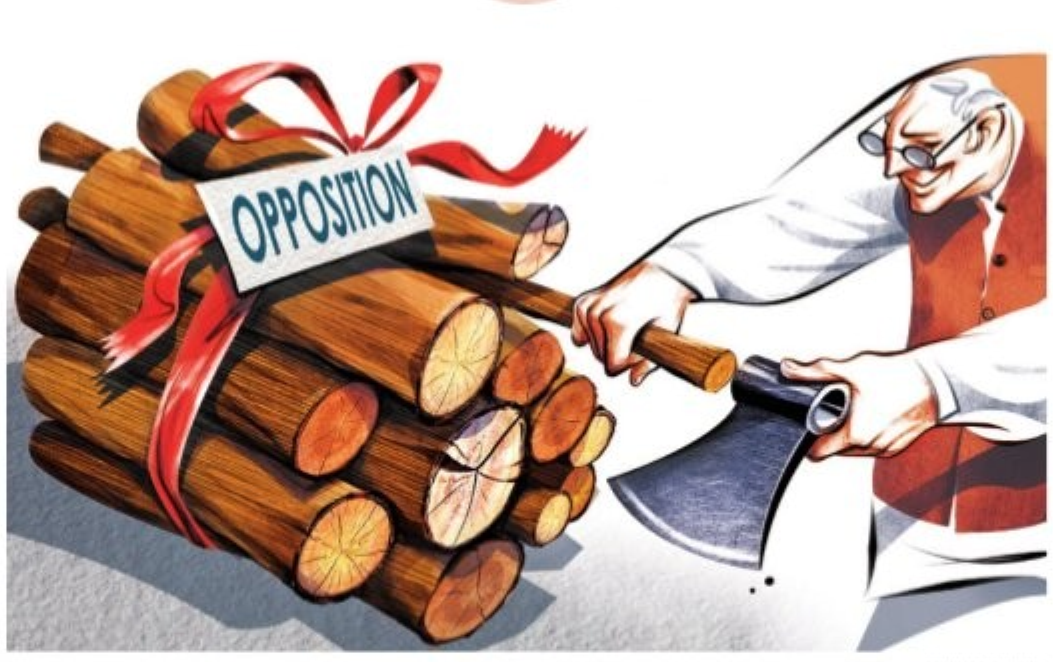
The world suffers horrible heat waves this summer. Temperatures range in the late 40s, southern Iran registering a mind-boggling 67 degrees Celsius. Climatologists say it's a recurring phenomenon. The US and most of Europe are creating separate budgets and amending work policies to save people and productivity. Air-conditioned 'cooling centres' are planned in public spaces for a respite from the heat. Working and schooling hours will be advanced and lighter clothing will replace stiff dress codes. India needs a similar plan. Saving millions of outdoor workers is a priority. Eventually we will have to adopt formal heat standards at work places.

The Opposition's metaphor of the BJP being a huge washing machine was perfectly illustrated by the Maharashtra episode

WHAT NDA'S SUDDEN 'REVIVAL' MEANS FOR BJP IN 2024

RADHIKA RAMASESHAN

Columnist and political commentator



SOUMYADIP SINHA

JP Nadda's raison d'etre for absorbing the legislators and a Rajya Sabha MP from Sharad Pawar's Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) into the BJP just days after Prime Minister Narendra Modi publicly accused the party of commissioning a "₹70,000 crore" scam was not even specious by political standards. The BJP president's exposition was a pathetic bluster as he resolutely stood his ground at a press conference addressed earlier this week. Nadda conflated corruption with ideology and stated that while the law would take its course in dealing with malfeasance, there was "nothing wrong" if somebody (read corrupt) wanted to champion the BJP's ideology. Pawar senior's nephew, Ajit Pawar, who spearheaded the NCP rebellion, three other legislators and Rajya Sabha MP Praful Patel, have serious graft and misappropriation charges against them that are being investigated by state and Central agencies.

The Opposition's metaphor of the BJP being a humongous washing machine with enough capacity to remove all stains was never more appropriately illustrated than by the Maharashtra episode. But one recent example showed that such exchanges in the marketplace do not fool voters all the time even if ideology is invoked. Think Karnataka and how a minority mandate was converted into a majority vote simply because the BJP opened its doors to renegades from the Congress and the Janata Dal (Secular) carrying unwholesome baggage. This cynicism might be one of the reasons for the BJP's Karnataka loss.

The BJP's ideological underpinning is eventually the only attribute going for the party after nine years of Central rule. That's indisputable for three reasons: in the Opposition spectrum, no other party, including the Congress and the Left forces (which have suffered the opprobrium of being minority-appeasers), can challenge Hindutva, which is at the core of the BJP's belief. The Left's ideology might have worked once upon a time but that has passed after its own workers gravitated towards the BJP in West Bengal in the past few elections while in Kerala, the communal threat hangs low.

Second, Hindutva's mainstreaming has made the Opposition reactive and defensive, except for parties like the AIMIM and Assam's All India Democratic Front which never pretended to be secular in their pursuit of a pro-minority agenda.

Finally, nothing stokes the BJP's cadre more than the mention of the Ram temple or a ban on meat consumption and of late, the bulldozer which personified a muscular genre of bigotry. Essentially, "Hindu asmita" (pride) is a notion which absolves the BJP of courting and embracing the corrupt and the crime-prone.

Cadre support is at the core of the BJP's success, enhanced by the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh's endorsement of the Central government's policies and programmes in the domestic spheres. Atal Bihari Vajpayee's missteps—manifest in the former PM's equivocation on Modi and his alleged complicity in the 2002 Gujarat communal violence, and generally on the secular-communal polemics because he wished to please the Broad Church more than the parivar's fanatics—resulted in him losing the cadre's confidence in the 2004 election.

Through his nine years in Delhi, Modi sedulously carried out the RSS' wish list in its favourite areas such as education, home, tribal affairs and culture, keeping his hands untied while carrying out economic reforms and disinvestments and befriending the world's Islamic bloc. Vajpayee had to look over his shoulders when inviting investors and trying to make peace with Pakistan.

Now that the virtually defunct National Democratic Alliance (NDA), housing as many as 38 parties in its large tent, has been revived, will Modi have to revise his ideological stance? For the NDA constituents, extant and past, ideology was flexible. They never thought of ideological adherence as a matter of principle but a reason to be expedient as long as it brought them power, positions and privileges. In the past, the BJP bountifully showered these on its allies. Many of the parties invited to the NDA jamboree on Monday do not have legislators or MPs though they have contested elections. From Maharashtra alone, three such entities—the Prahar Janshakti Party, Rashtriya Samaj Paksha and Jan Surajya Shakti Party—were present, raising a crucial question. The BJP is ensconced in the state government: it shored up its numbers by splitting the Shiv Sena and taking away a bulk of Balasaheb Thackeray's party, leaving his political legatee Uddhav Thackeray high and dry. Next it preyed upon the NCP. What value do the smaller parties bring to the table, especially when they have no proven legislative strength except for the BJP to make a grandstand play against the Opposition and say if you have 26, we have 38? If the BJP is looking at a long-term alliance with the breakaway Sena and NCP groupings, it will have to contend with the mutual contradictions existing on the ground. The NCP draws its sustenance from the Maratha votes while the BJP has amassed the backward caste votes—the twain rarely coexist.

If Maharashtra was used as a basis to make national projections for 2024, what is the first message emanating from the NDA meeting? Is the BJP less confident of riding to a third-term victory on Modi's persona and politics? There was no such indication because the PM was there, front and centre, at the gathering, as sure of himself as in the past.

However, there was an epic picture that could be a pointer. Modi posed with Ajit Pawar, unmindful of the slew of cases against the latter. The PM as well as his party chief hammered away incessantly on the Opposition's "corruption" and dynasts, suggesting that these features co-existed in INDIA, the new formation. Can the BJP speak with a straight face on either of the two after the Maharashtra episode?

Another picture that told a story was of Modi hugging Chirag Paswan, the son of the late Ram Vilas Paswan, who founded the Lok Janshakti Party (LJP). The party broke after Paswan's death, with Chirag's uncle Pashupati Kumar Paras forming the Rashtriya Lok Janshakti Party (RLJP). The BJP walked away with most of the MPs and MLAs from the Paras faction. Having sensed that the party's Dalit voters remained with Chirag, the BJP wooed him back, disregarding the intra-family tensions.

Of course, the BJP must contend with the reality that major regional forces such as the YSRCP, BRS, TDP, BJD and BSP are yet non-committal and outside the ambit of its umbrella as well as the Opposition's. Can the BJP lure at least a couple of these parties before 2024?

SECURITIES INVESTIGATIONS: SPEED AND QUALITY A MUST

M S SAHOO

Distinguished Professor, National Law University Delhi

The securities regulator conducts investigations where it has reasonable grounds to believe that the transactions in securities are being dealt with in a manner detrimental to the investors/securities market, or if any person has violated any of the provisions of the SEBI Act, 1992, Depositories Act, 1996, and Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, etc.

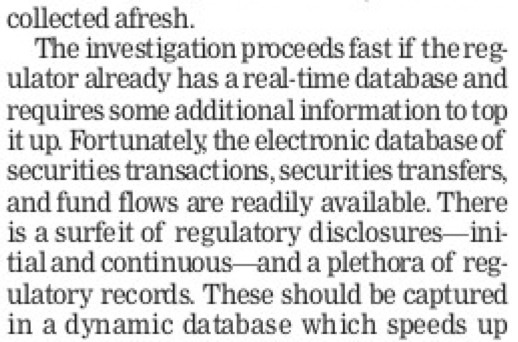
The investigation is a fact-finding exercise. There are competing demands on the regulator—do it fast, and do it well—with strong votaries on both sides. There is no tradeoff, however. The effectiveness of enforcement actions depends on the investigation's quality and speed. To paraphrase a popular saying, an investigation delayed is justice denied, and an investigation hurried is justice buried.

If the quality of the investigation is not good, the final action taken by the regulator may not stand judicial scrutiny. If it is not done with care, it may add to the cost of doing business. It may even penalise the innocent or allow the offender to escape. If it takes longer to conclude, the market continues to suffer the alleged misconduct. It may make it difficult for the regulator to gather the evidence required to establish contravention, while depriving the alleged offender of an effective defence.

Every investigation costs the regulator, the investigation, and associated agencies and persons. Therefore, the decision of whether to initiate an investigation requires the application of the mind. The surveillance departments of SEBI and stock exchanges, complaint databases, media, and whistleblowers generate several alerts. The regulator analyses them with other relevant details to meet the 'reasonable grounds' threshold. Recall the Satyam debacle of 2009. Satyam's chairman disclosed that the company had doctored its accounts for years. After due diligence, the regulator initiated an investigation. It received similar 'disclosures' for some days, purportedly from chief executives of several companies. It did due diligence and closed them. While the disclosure from Satyam was correct, others were not. Such due diligence often delays the launch of an investigation.

The appointment of an investigating authority (IA) is the first step. The IA gathers the necessary material and evidence to conclude that there is indeed a contravention. For example, an investigation into price manipulation, which is the most common type of unfair trade practice, typically entails gathering information and records—trade details from stock exchanges, demat accounts from depositories, fund flows from banks, etc. Some of these may be available with the regulator from regulatory filings and in regulatory records of exchanges and intermediaries, and some may have to be collected afresh.

The investigation proceeds fast if the regulator already has a real-time database and requires some additional information to top it up. Fortunately, the electronic database of securities transactions, securities transfers, and fund flows are readily available. There is a surfeit of regulatory disclosures—initial and continuous—and a plethora of regulatory records. These should be captured in a dynamic database which speeds up the investigation.



PTI

> The time required to complete an investigation largely depends on its scope. Delays also arise if the scope of the investigation is not sharply defined

The time required to complete an investigation largely depends on its scope. It may take years if the scope is very large, say, it entails thousands of parties with millions of transactions over months/years. Recall the irregularity in illiquid stock options in 2014–16, which involved about 15,000 parties. Delays also arise if the scope of the investigation is not sharply defined. In such cases, the communications from the IA are unlikely to be precise and comprehensive, thereby requiring follow-ups. Or, it may seek too much information from all the entities, which only complicates the analysis and delays the completion of the investigation. In some cases, the scope evolves/expands as the investigation proceeds. The IA must not let it be a never-ending story.

Everyone associated with the market is duty-bound to cooperate with the IA. However, non-cooperation often prolongs the investigation. It may take excuses to submit relevant information, seek repeated extensions, and invite intervention from external agencies. In case of extreme non-cooperation, SEBI uses its powers to enforce the production of information and records and the attendance of persons. Where documentary evidence is not available or does not exist, investigation relies on the testimony of individuals, which contributes to the delay.

The securities market is global. A person sitting anywhere in the world may participate in Indian securities markets through intermediated holdings, trading in derivatives of Indian securities, or depository receipts of Indian companies. The person may manipulate the Indian markets or be a party to manipulation. SEBI seeks the assistance of foreign regulators who are signatories to the Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding (MMoU) of the International Organisation of Securities Commissions (IOSCO), or with whom it has entered into bilateral agreements. Nevertheless, this takes considerable time and follow-ups, and the desired information may not always be forthcoming.

The regulator is not helpless when an investigation takes a long time. In case of urgency, if a prima facie case exists, it may pass an interim order, pending completion of investigations, even without a hearing, restraining the alleged offender from continuing misconduct and even impounding the proceeds or securities related to the alleged irregular transactions. The interim order is confirmed or withdrawn after hearing the parties.

The speed of investigation also depends on the skill of the IA and its resources in terms of databases and technology. There is, however, no formal course that prepares someone for an investigative role with a regulator. One learns investigation while doing it under the guidance of an experienced officer. With the increasing sophistication of irregularities in the markets, the ecosystem should produce a trained pool of investigation professionals.

INDIA's challenge

Ref: 'INDIA' faces rough waters en route to 2024 polls (July 21). The BJP is currently using central agencies and governors to curtail the democratic functioning of the opposition-ruled states. Apart from keeping aside major differences, no elected MP should jump over the fence to assist the BJP in the end. If the unity is strong and moulded by the 'single aim of driving away' the present Modi government, 'INDIA' has a better chance of winning in 2024, also considering that nothing has miraculously changed in the lifestyle of the common man in the last 10 years of BJP's rule.

Sathyam, Tirupati

Opposition alliance

The Opposition alliance seems to have come together to stop Narendra Modi from becoming prime minister in 2024. INDIA's real test will be seat-sharing. Will the Congress not contest in New Delhi and West Bengal?

Manipur violence

The gang rape of the Kuki women in Manipur reflects the extreme erosion of human values and the depths of depravity to which some individuals can descend when they are assured of impunity. Besides openly apologising to the victims, the Manipur government should make sure the guilty are swiftly meted out the maximum punishment under the law.

Kurian Mathew, Bengaluru

SC intervention

The whole country is very much saddened by the gang rape of two tribal women in Manipur, and the Supreme Court's timely intervention is a ray of hope for the people of Manipur. The required measures need to be taken as early as possible for the welfare of the people.

Jefrin, Madurai

Water dispute

Vis-a-vis the Cauvery water dispute, the TN government should approach the Karnataka government. Since the dispute is under the jurisdiction of the Cauvery Water Management Authority, what is the role of the Centre? The TN government always approaches the Centre with issues not under the latter's control, and then blames it for non-cooperation for the sake of political benefit.

It is really disheartening that 16 people died and many houses were washed away by torrential rains in Maharashtra. I appreciate the state government for undertaking quick rescue operations despite the village being far from the main road.

SC says can't give relief without hearing other side; Justice Gavai seeks to clear the air on his close ties with both sides

Rahul plea: Reply sought from BJP MLA, Guj govt

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday sought response from the Gujarat government and BJP MLA Purnesh Modi in a plea preferred by Congress leader Rahul Gandhi. The Congress leader had, in his plea, contested the Gujarat High Court's refusal to stay his conviction in a criminal defamation case over his alleged remarks on the 'Modi' surname.

A bench of Justices BR Gavai and PK Mishra, however, refused to consider his request for interim suspension of the conviction, saying that it would have to hear the other side first. "At this stage, without hearing the other side, how can we give (relief)?" Justice Gavai remarked.

Underlining the limited question involved in the plea, which was regarding the stay of conviction, the bench posted the hearing for August 4.

Gandhi had challenged in Supreme Court the Gujarat High Court's July 7 verdict, passed by a bench of Justice Hemant M Prachchhak. Upholding the Surat session court's verdict, Justice Prachchhak had said that the two-year jail term granted to the Congress leader was "just, proper and legal."

As soon as the hearing had begun, Justice Gavai, the presiding judge of the bench at the outset, expressed his difficulty to hear the matter and told the counsels about the political association of his father RS Gavai and his brother with the Congress party.

Asking senior counsels AM Singhvi (appearing for Gandhi) and Mahesh Jethmalani (representing Purnesh Modi) to take a call if they wanted him to hear the matter or not, Justice Gavai said, "I must express some difficulty. My father was associated with the Congress. Though not a member, he was closely associated. Mr Singhvi, you have been with the Congress for more than 40 years. My brother is still in politics and he is in Congress. Please take a call if you want me to hear this."

Both the advocates asked the judge to not recuse. "We have no objection," Jethmalani said. Singhvi said it was a sign of the times that "these kinds of things should be raked up".

In an attempt to convince the bench to grant an interim relief, Singhvi said that 111 days have already passed from Gandhi's disqualification from the House. He said that Gandhi, due to his disqualification, was unable to attend one Parliament session and would not be able to attend the ongoing session too. Referring to the provisions of The Representation of People Act, 1951, which mandates the Election Commission to fill the casual vacancies by way of byelections within six months of date of vacancy, Singhvi said that elections to the Wayanad constituency will be notified any time.

On Jethmalani's objection, Singhvi said, "Your client needs to be bothered only about the conviction part and not the disqualification part."

In the end, Justice Gavai said, "I am only doing my duty. I have to disclose this, so there is no problem later on." On a light note, he also told the counsels that his father was a good friend of both their fathers.

WHY DO JUDGES RECUSE?

The practice of the judges recusing themselves from hearing a case stems from a principle that says "Nobody can be a judge in his own case." A judge can withdraw from considering a case when there is a conflict of interest in order to prevent creation of a perception of bias while deciding a case. The conflict of interest can be in the form of "having prior or personal association with a party involved in the case" or "representing one of the parties in the past"

RULES FOR RECUSAL

Although there are no formal rules regarding recusals, the Supreme Court in Ranjit Thakur v Union of India (1987) case had said that the test of the likelihood of bias is the reasonableness of apprehension in the mind of the aggrieved party

INSTANCES OF SC JUDGES RECUSING

Five judges of the Supreme Court had recused themselves from a case involving human rights activist Gautam Navlakha. Ex CJI Ranjan Gogoi was the first person to recuse. A day later, Justices N V Ramana, R Subhash Reddy and B R Gavai followed suit. Justice SR Bhat was the fifth judge to recuse

Justices DY Chandrachud and AS Bopanna had recused from considering Krishna river water dispute case

Justice Dipankar Datta recused from considering CBI's plea challenging order of NIA court in Jammu on issuing production warrants to jail authorities in Yasin Malik case

ALSO IN TOP COURT

'Let Allahabad HC hear Krishna Janmabhoomi case'

Opining that it would be in the "larger interest" that Shri Krishna Janmabhoomi-Shahi Idgah mosque dispute is decided by the Allahabad High Court instead of the trial court, the SC on Friday asked the Allahabad HC's Registrar General to furnish details of civil suits filed in the issue. These have been consolidated and transferred by the Allahabad High Court from the Mathura court to itself.

Plea to cancel 'Adipurush' certification dismissed

The apex court on Friday binned a plea seeking the revocation of certificate granted by the Central Board of Film Certificate for the movie 'Adipurush'. "Everybody is now is touchy about everything," the SC bench of Justices SK Kaul and Sudhanshu Dhulia remarked, adding that it was inappropriate to interfere based on the "sensitivities of each individual."

Malik in court with no order, SC upset

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday expressed displeasure on the personal appearance of separatist leader and Jammu Kashmir Liberation Front chief Yasin Malik before it in the absence of a court order.

"There is some problem. We will not be able to hear the matter on merits. There is no order by us that he will appear," said a bench of Justices Surya Kant and Dipankar Datta, taking serious objection to the incident.

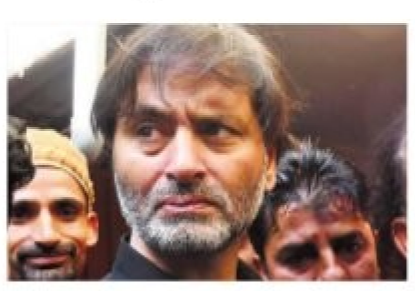
Malik, who is in jail following his conviction and life sentence in a terror funding case, was brought to the high-security SC premises in a prison van, escorted by armed security personnel. He walked into the courtroom surprising all.

The SC bench was hearing a CBI appeal against the September 20, 2022 order of a trial court in Jammu in the 1989 kidnapping case of Rubaiya Sayeed, daughter of then Union home minister Mufti Mohammad Sayeed, which allowed Malik to personally appear in court to cross the witnesses.

The SC had on April 24 issued notices on CBI's appeal, following which Malik wrote a letter to the SC registrar on May 26 seeking permission to appear in person to plead his case. An assistant registrar took up his request on July 18 and said the SC would pass necessary orders. Tihar jail authorities apparently misconstrued this as Malik was to be presented before the SC.

When Solicitor General Tushar Mehta emphasised that Malik is a high-risk prisoner who can't be taken out of jail, the SC said it has not passed an order to produce him. Justice Datta has recused himself from the matter and it will now be placed before CJI D Y Chandrachud for listing it before another bench.

The Delhi Prisons Department on Friday ordered an inquiry into the lapse.



Mehta flags 'serious security lapses'

Solicitor General of India Tushar Mehta on Friday wrote to Union Home Secretary Ajay Kumar Bhalla stating that Yasin Malik's appearance in SC was a matter of grave security lapse. "A person with terrorist background like him could have escaped, been forcibly taken away or could have been killed," Mehta wrote.

PM to hold clusterwise meeting with NDA leaders

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP is adopting a new strategy within the National Democratic Alliance (NDA), after 38 parties recently at a NDA meet resolved to contest the 2024 Lok Sabha elections together against 26 parties of the Opposition.

A day after Prime Minister Narendra Modi chaired a crucial NDA meet on July 18, the BJP is learnt to have formed 10 clusters consisting of leaders of NDA allies. The NDA leaders would soon be acquainted with the latest rounds of electoral strategies, which are believed to be in the final shape, with an aim to win the maximum number of seats in the 2024 general election.

Leaders, including MPs of all NDA allies, under different clusters will meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi to brainstorm over winning strategies. Sources in BJP said the Prime Minister will share tips on success in the election with NDA leaders and MPs, grouped in the 10 clusters.

"We will learn skills of success, oratory as well as winning the trust of people during the meeting with the Prime Minister for the next LS elections. The BJP has made Union ministers in charges of each of the 10 clusters. Among them, the names of Dharamendra Pradhan, Arjun Meghwal, Pralhad Joshi and Nityanand Rai are doing the rounds in the political circles", said a senior BJP leader.

An NDA leader also said PM Modi is supposed to give winning tips to the leaders and office bearers of NDA allies at meeting, is likely on July 25. The meeting of cluster-wise NDA leaders and MPs is likely be in a region-wise manner.

According to sources, plans are being finalised to conduct the meetings of two clusters of NDA leaders and MPs daily. In each cluster, the BJP has reportedly included 30-35 members of NDA who will be discussing the ways to win the maximum seats to secure at least 50 per cent of total votes in the elections.

The Prime Minister had said at the NDA meet that the NDA will secure 50 per cent of vote share this time in the LS elections.

Sources said that BJP leadership will also discuss about outreach programmes with the leaders of allies included i each of the 10 clusters. In fact, the BJP with its allies whose number is likely to go up to 40 in next few days, will chalk out a combined comprehensive outreach across the country with special focus in 160 LS constituencies identified as weak to the party.

It is also believed that the outreach programmes aimed at consolidating NDA position in the pockets of minority dominated areas in the LS constituencies would also be discussed at meeting with the PM.

A senior BJP functionary, preferring anonymity, said that the PM at cluster meeting with NDA leaders may ask them to craft effective outreach programmes also to the people of Pasmanda community, marginalised communities and women living in the rural areas.

"We strongly think that the PM will certainly ask the NDA allies to take the BJP-led NDA government at the centre to the last man of society as the BJP wants to make development and performances as the main agenda of upcoming elections in 2024", said a BJP leader.

Environmental activists see red over proposed amendments to Forest Act

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

ENVIRONMENTAL organisations and civil societies on Friday staged protests across the country over tabling of the Forest (Conservation) Amendment (FCA) Bill 2023. They demanded rollback of the the bill as it will change governance of the forest and spell disaster for country's forest resources and the livelihood of millions.

Activists said the Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) report on the bill showed the proposed amendments were rejected and opposed by stakeholders across all parties. Four JPC members shared dissent notes saying the bill would spell doom to forest conservation.

"Not surprising to see even BJP-ruled states were unhappy and opposing some clauses of the FCA bill 2023," said Debadityo Sinha, a forest law expert.

The alarming aspect of is that the JPC report is filled with generic responses from the environment ministry, disregarding the genuine concerns raised by the people of India, he added.

"It is utterly disappointing to see a committee constituting parliamentarians merely accepting the ministry's generic response without any critical thinking or application of mind, reducing the report to a mere documentation of views," said Sinha.

The FCA bill 2023 will amend the existing Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980 (FCA).

The Minister of Environment, Forest and Climate Change Bhupendra Yadav had introduced the bill during the budget session 2023 of Parliament and sent it to the JPC instead of the Parliamentary Standing Committee.

Pradip Chatterjee, convenor to the National Platform for Small Scale Fish Workers, requested the JPC to ask the government to revoke the bill as it was prepared and placed before the Parliament of India through an undemocratic process.

"The proposed amendment would grossly shrink the purpose and juridiction of the original Forest (Conservation) Act 1980 by removing restrictions on the conversion of any forest land," says Chatterjee.

SALIENT FEATURES

A provision proposed will abolish the role of advisory committee which looks into ecological, social impact of the project on forest land

NO CLEARANCE REQUIRED

For acquisition of forest land within 100km of the international border

For forest land alongside railways, roads and notified forest land of up to 10 hectares for security infrastructure.

Blanket exemption for use of forest land held by agencies Rail, NHAI, PWD, Defence, etc.

A provision proposed to make the Central government as the sole authority to open up all forests to mining and similar commercial activities

'Oppn protest to continue till PM makes statement'

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Opposition parties will continue to protest in Parliament until their demands for a discussion on Manipur situation are met and a suo moto statement from Prime Minister Narendra Modi is elicited, said Congress Lok Sabha whip Manickam Tagore. Speaking to this newspaper, Tagore said that the Modi government is adamant on not having discussion on Manipur.

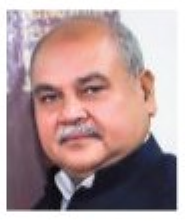
The Monsoon session of Parliament, which began on Thursday, has not been smooth because of the face-off between the Opposition and the government over the deteriorating law and order situation in Manipur. While the government accuses the opposition parties of running away from Parliament, a united Opposition was unrelenting in its demand for a statement from PM on the issue.

"The government doesn't want a discussion and it is hell bent on not having a discussion on Manipur. Opposition wants the entire Parliament to send a message that the people of India stand with Manipur,"said Tagore. The parties have intensified its attack after a video showing two women from Manipur paraded naked by a dozen men surfaced on Thursday.

"All we ask is a statement from the PM on Manipur in both the Houses, followed by a discussion. After that, we are ready to hear the government's views also. The PM has to understand that he cannot compare the situation of Manipur with any other state. For the past 80 days, Manipur has been burning. We all hope that the PM and the government realises the importance of Parliament and don't waste taxpayers' money," he said.

POWER CORRIDOR

28% FARMERS LEFT SECTOR IN 3 DECADES



Over one-fourth of the agricultural workforce left work in the last three decades, Union agriculture minister Narendra Singh Tomar informed Parliament. Around 28% of workforce shifted to other sectors, he said. The agrarian workforce was 64.8% in 1993-94, which shrunken to 46.5% in 2020-21.

SUBSIDIES 7% OF FARMERS' INCOME

The Union Minister of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Narendra Singh Tomar, informed the Parliament that subsidies on agriculture only contribute less than 7% to their income. However, the total agriculture subsidies increased to a whopping `2.50 lakh crore, he said. As per NITI Aayog, input subsidies to the agriculture sector constitute around 7% of the income generated in the agriculture and allied sectors.

1,841 VACANCIES IN I&B MINISTRY

The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting has filled up only 446 posts through recruitment during the last five years including backlog vacancies, said I&B Minister Anurag Singh Thakur in Rajya Sabha on Thursday. Replying to MP AA Rahim, the minister said that there are 1,841 vacant posts in the ministry and its various media units and institutions as on June 30, 2023. On a question, Thakur further said that the number of new posts created during the last five years is 94.

NO CENTRALISED COUNSELLING FOR UG, PG MEDICAL COURSES

There is no proposal to conduct centralised counselling for undergraduate or postgraduate medical courses next year, Union health minister Mansukh mandaviya said in the Lok Sabha on Friday. "No changes to the existing scheme of allocation of seats to various quotas has been made," said the health minister to a question from Lok Sabha MPs Kavitha Malothu and Dr G Ranjith Reddy on existing arrangement regarding the counselling for UG or PG medical admissions.

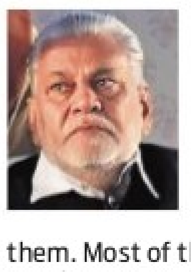
LAPSES IN SIGNALLING BEHIND BALASORE TRAIN TRAGEDY: GOVT

Union Minister of Railways Ashwini Vaishnaw in a written reply to Rajya Sabha shared report of the Commissioner of Railway Safety (CRS) regarding the triple train accident at Balasore in Odisha. Sharing the conclusion of CRS probe, the minister said: "The rear-collision was due to the lapses in the signalling–circuit-alteration carried out at the north signal goomty (of the station) in the past, and during the execution of the signalling work related to replacement of Electric Lifting Barrier for level crossing gate no.94 at the station". The mishap had claimed 259 lives besides leaving hundreds of others injured.

CENTRE PLANS 10K JAN AUSHADHI KENDRAS

The Centre plans to open 10,000 Pradhan Mantri Bhartiya Jan Aushadhi Kendras by March next year to improve common man's access to generic medicines, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya told the Lok Sabha on Friday. The Central government's Jan Aushadi scheme was launched in November 2008 with around 80 centres opened across the country till 2014-15, the minister informed.

RAJ HAS HIGHEST NOs OF COW SHEDS



India has a total of 7,676 cowsheds, of which Rajasthan has the highest number, Union Minister of State for Fisheries, Animal Husbandry and Dairying, Parshottam Rupala said. He said Assam has the lowest number of them. Most of the Northeastern states are yet to report the number of cowshed.

NAVI MUMBAI AIRPORT

Maharashtra Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis on Friday said the Navi Mumbai airport will become operational next year. The state is planning to set up a dedicated authority for efficient airport management, he said

Priyanka storms Scindia fort, slams patwari scam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

> I've been in this land in the past too for offering prayers at the shrine of Goddess Pitambara. My grandmother too visited the region. I've listened to the stories of Rani Laxmibai and others of this land in my childhood
>
> Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Congress general secy

Questions PM's silence

It was perhaps the first rally by a top opposition leader after the Bengaluru meet of opposition parties where the INDIA coalition was announced. Priyanka questioned the PM's promptness in calling all opposition parties/leaders as chors (thieves)

CONGRESS national general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra addressed her second rally in the run-up to the assembly polls in Madhya Pradesh, on Union Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia's home turf Gwalior on Friday. Priyanka first offered floral tributes at the memorial of the warrior Queen Lakshmibai. Later she addressed the 'Jan Akrosh Maha Rally' at Gwalior's Mela Ground and spoke in local Bundeli language to strike a chord with the gathering.

"Bolo Gwalior-Chambal baare abki je Mamaji ke bhrashth sarkar badalbe bale hain, bolo badalbe waale hai naa. Ek baar hamare sange jor se bolo, BJP jaaeeyebe baari hai, Congress aaeeyebe baari hai (People of Gwalior-Chambal join me in saying the corrupt government of Shivraj Singh Chouhan is going to be unseated from power. BJP is going and the Congress is coming in MP)."

She began the speech in the same Bundeli lingo, expressing her delight over coming to the Gwalior-Chambal region. "I've been in this land in the past also for offering prayers at the shrine of Goddess Pitambara. My grandmother Indira Gandhi too had come to your region in the past. I've listened to the inspiring stories of Rani Laxmibai and other brave hearts of this land in my childhood from my grandmother," said Priyanka.

She referred to the pulling down of Kamal Nath-led Congress government in MP in March 2020 by then Congress leader Jyotiraditya Scindia and his loyalist MLAs with BJP's help, Priyanka said, "I can see a huge wave of change here and appeal to you to power Congress to a massive majority. The government formed by you should be so strong that it can neither be purchased nor pulled down."

Priyanka avoided a direct attack – unlike state Congress leaders such as the leader of Opposition, Dr Govind Singh -- against once close family friend and party colleague who is now a BJP leader and Union minister Jyotiraditya Scindia. "I don't want to indulge in politics of blames and counter blames… I could have spoken about Scindiaji and how his political ideology suddenly took a U-turn."

Didi flays INDIA ally Left days after sharing dais

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

> My CPM friends, you are always allergic to me. How many were killed in Buddhadeb babu's govt? In 2003, 89 people were killed and on the day of the rural polls in 2008, 39 people were killed. It began during CPM days
>
> Mamata Banerjee, West Bengal CM

'Jai INDIA, Jai Bangla'

Mamata said the opposition alliance would organise all protests against the BJP under the banner of INDIA. "They want to sell our country, we want to save India. Let INDIA win, let BJP lose. We will raise Jai INDIA along with Jai Bangla," the CM said

IN a stinging attack on the BJP over violence and parading of the two disrobed women in Manipur, Trinamool Congress leader Mamata Banerjee on Friday also hit out at CPM, an ally in the 26-party front 'INDIA' or Indian National Development Inclusive Alliance which has decided to fight against the saffron camp ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Her tone against the Left was not as tough as it was in previous years.

While referring to violence in the recent panchayat polls in which the ruling TMC secured a massive victory, she did not forget to mention that the Left is allergic to her.

"I feel sorry for the violence in the rural polls. Among the 29 people killed in the violence, 18 are from the TMC. Who killed them? Did Trinamool kill Trinamool? My CPM friends, you are always allergic to Mamata Banerjee.

How many were killed in Buddhadebbabu's (former Bengal CM) government? In 2003, 89 people were killed and on the day of the rural polls in 2008, 39 people were killed. It began during CPM days and we are facing consequences," said Mamata while addressing the TMC's Martyr's Day, an annual event to mark the killing of 13 people in police firing in 1993.

Mamata, however, did not accuse the CPM directly for the deaths of TMC workers in the state.

The TMC's mega annual event came four days after Mamata attended the Opposition meeting in Bengaluru and it has served as a peek into the party's roadmap for the next months left for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

Lambasting the BJP over the issue of atrocities against women, the CM warned the saffron camp that the women voters will throw the party out of politics in the coming days.

"BJP's Beti Bachao campaign has now turned into Beti Jalao in reality. In Bilkis Bano's case, the accused were released on bail. In the wrestler's case, the same thing happened. They are looting women's modesty. Who are these women? They are our mothers, sisters, and daughters. The women of the country will throw you out of the politics in the 2024 elections," the TMC matriarch said.

Back in action, Rajbhar echoes call for SC status

After joining the NDA bandwagon, Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP) chief Om Prakash Rajbhar is out to prove his worth. He met CM Yogi Adityanath on Thursday and came out with two announcements -- first, he would make efforts to get Rajbhars included into the SC bracket. So far, his caste comes under OBCs. Secondly, he announced that he would host PM Modi at a grand rally in Azamgarh. The rally, planned in September, would be the start of the NDA's campaign to regain the seats lost in 2019. Many of them fall under Rajbhar's area of influence and he would be playing a key role if BJP wins them back.

Mahan Dal fails to make the cut to enter NDA

While SBSP managed to get back to the NDA fold, another contender and former ally of the Akhilesh Yadav-led Samajwadi Party failed to make the cut. Mahan Dal founder Keshav Dev Maurya was all dressed up for the occasion – the NDA meet on July 18 – but he didn't get the green signal from the BJP brass. According to sources, Maurya was called to Delhi by BJP insiders and assured that he would be invited to the NDA meet. Even a room was booked for him at government guest house. He was waiting for the call, which didn't come. But he has been assured that his time would come.

CJI's advice on how not to use judges' protocol

CJI DY Chandrachud has some words of wisdom for High Court judges. He has written a two-page note to all CJs to counsel the judges 'not to use protocol facilities in a manner that would bring the judiciary under public ridicule'. CJI's reaction was to a recent letter issued by Allahabad HC registry to the Railways seeking explanation for inconvenience caused to a judge travelling in a train. "The HC judge does not have disciplinary jurisdiction over railway personnel and hence there was no occasion for the Allahabad HC's protocol department to call for explanation from the Railways for the perusal of the inconvenienced judge," the CJI note said.

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

ENRAGED over sister's love affair, a youth beheaded her carrying the severed head to the local police station in a gunny bag to surrender before the police in Barabanki on Friday.

The girl was allegedly in a relationship with a person of other faith. The local police sources said that the accused, Riyaz, 24, had a spat with his younger sister Asifa, 18, over her affair with local youth Chand Babu.

The situation took an ugly turn when Riyaz lost his cool, decapitated Asifa, kept her severed head in a gunny bag and left home for the police station. In the meantime, the neighbours and local residents informed the police control room and the cops intercepted him on the way to police station.

Additional SP Barabanki Ashutosh Mishra said that at 12pm on Friday, they got information that a man holding the severed head of a woman was spotted on a road in Mithwara village. A police team reached the spot and caught Riyaz. The SP claimed that during interrogation, Riyaz conceded that he was enraged over his sister's relationship.

Srinagar bans sharp-edged weapons to curb stabbings

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

AFTER several stabbing incidents in Srinagar, the administration has banned the sale, purchase and carrying of sharp-edged weapons in public places in Srinagar. People possessing sharp-edged weapons have been asked to surrender it in the nearest police station within 72 hours or face stern action under the law.

The Srinagar DM on Friday issued an order imposing a ban on sale, purchase and carrying of sharp-edged weapons in public places.

The ban shall be applicable to business establishments engaged in sale/purchase of such weapons. The sharp-edged weapons shall include any object or instrument that possesses a blade, edge, or point capable of causing injury or harm to individuals, including but not limited to knives, swords, daggers, box cutters, and razors.

The order said the ban shall apply to all individuals except law enforcement agencies, individuals possessing such weapons for legitimate occupational purposes (butchers, carpenters, electricians, chefs etc).

There has been a rise in stabbing incidents in Qamarwari, Bemina, Kralpora, Batmaloo, Nowhatta, Kothibagh, Rambagh and some other areas of Srinagar in the last three months.

According to the order, possession of sharp-edged weapons "whose blade is more than 9 inches long or whose blade is more than 2 inches wide" for any purpose other than domestic, agricultural, scientific, and industrial purposes is a cognizable offence under the Arms Act 1959.

People possessing sharp-edged weapons have been asked to surrender their weapons in the nearest police stations within next 72 hours. "After the expiry of the deadline, the sharp-edged weapons shall be seized and appropriate action shall be initiated under the law," the order stated, adding that violation of the order shall be dealt with firmly and appropriate legal action will be taken as per section 188 of IPC.

The DM asked the Srinagar SSP to implement the order in letter and spirit.

Bihar BJP leader died of heart disease, not due to lathicharge, says autopsy

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

THE report of autopsy performed on Bihar BJP leader Vijay Kumar Singh has triggered a political storm as it found that Singh died of heart disease and complications related to it even as his party continued to deny it. The BJP in Bihar has reiterated its earlier stand that Singh died in police lathicharge during a Bihar Vidhan Sabha march on July 13.

Both the grand alliance partners -- RJD and JD (U) -- fired a salvo at BJP for claiming that Singh died in the police action despite the autopsy report concluding that his death was not caused by the lathi blows. While rejecting the autopsy report, state BJP president Samrat Choudhary asked the state government to order a judicial probe into the 'unprovoked' police lathicharge in which several leaders and workers of the party suffered injuries.

A BJP delegation had also submitted a memorandum to governor Rajendra Vishwanath Arlekar, seeking a CBI probe into the lathicharge. In the memorandum, BJP leaders had laid blame on chief minister Nitish Kumar and deputy CM Tejashwi Prasad for the lathicharge on the procession.

Choudhary said the post-mortem report was prepared under the influence of the state government. He alleged that the government was trying to hush-up the matter but his party would not accept it at any cost. He reiterated that his leader was murdered at the behest of the government. The post-mortem report was 'manipulated', he alleged.

"If the state has the mettle, it should hand over the video of the post-mortem to AIIMS for further investigation," he said. He said that it was also initially established Singh died due to head injuries but the government constituted another committee to cover up the matter.

On the other hand, RJD spokesperson Mrityunjay Tiwary said the post-mortem report had proved that Singh's death was not caused due police lathi-charge. He said that BJP's allegation was baseless. "BJP leaders are politicising the death of Singh and they should stop it," he said.

82K road accidents in Gujarat in 5 years: NCRB

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@Ahmedabad

NINE people were killed, and 13 injured when a speeding luxury car hit a crowd of people who had gathered to assist victims of an earlier collision between an SUV and a truck in Gujarat's Ahmedabad. The horrifying incident from earlier on Friday has triggered a debate in Gujarat about traffic safety and collisions.

According to National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) statistics, the state witnessed about 82,000 accidents over the past five years, resulting in 36,000 fatalities.

Meanwhile, 7,457 people lost their lives in 15,200 road traffic accidents in 2021, the highest death rate in the ten years at 49%

Surat saw the highest mortality rate in road traffic accidents at 40.5 per cent. Following closely behind were Rajkot (37 per cent), Vadodara (31 per cent), and Ahmedabad (28 per cent). The mortality rate in Surat was the highest over the previous five years.

Kumar Manish, the founder of 'Urban Voices,' a platform that raises voices for happy and sustainable cities. stated "Road accidents are actually a culmination of a lot of administrative failures, including our own "chalta hai" (let it be attitude)," This rising number of traffic accidents not only endangers public safety but also places a strain on the city's resources and infrastructure."

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways provided statistics from the report "ROAD ACCIDENTS IN INDIA 2021" that show in Gujarat, 3,234 accidents occurred in 2020; 1,797 fatalities occurred; and 3,406 accidents were reported in 2021; 2,077 fatalities occurred.

Data from the Road Transport and Highways Ministry states that in Gujarat in 2021, "Under the age of 18, 328 children and 85 girls died in traffic accidents, while 1,334 men and 159 women between the ages of 18 and 25 perished on the roads."

VARANASI COURT ORDERS ASI SURVEY AT GYANVAPI

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE Varanasi district court on Friday directed the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) to conduct a detailed scientific survey of the Gyanvapi mosque premises, except the sealed 'wazukhana' where a Shivling-like structure exists, to determine if the mosque was built over a pre-existing temple.

The court said ASI can use ground penetrating radar (GPR) survey, excavation, dating method and other modern techniques as necessary.

However, the survey will not include the sealed area of the mosque in compliance with a Supreme Court order protecting that spot in the complex.

District judge A K Vishvesh asked the ASI to submit its report by August 4, the next date of hearing, along with videos and photographs of the survey proceedings.

The court also asked the ASI director to prepare list of the artefacts found in the building during the investigation, specifying their contents, age and nature. The order contained directives for conducting dating exercise of the pillars and plinth of the building to ascertain the age and nature of construction.

After explaining the points of investigation and methods to be adopted, the district judge cautioned the ASI director against any damage to the structure standing on the disputed land.

The ASI must ensure that it remain intact and unharmed, the order said.

Gauhati HC cancels bail of Arunachal hostel warden accused of raping 21 girls

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

Reprieve despite grave offence, says HC

The Gauhati High Court said the Special Court had granted bail to the accused in an "absolutely casual manner despite observing that the statements of the victims reveal a grave offence having been committed" and without giving due consideration to the objections of the Special Public Prosecutor

'SHOCKED' that a Special Court in Arunachal Pradesh granted bail to a former warden of a school hostel who allegedly sexually assaulted 21 minors, the Gauhati High Court has taken up a suo moto case for the cancellation of bail.

The accused, Yumken Bagra, allegedly committed the crime between 2019 and 2022 while he was working as the hostel warden of a government residential school at Karo village in Monigong, Shi Yomi district.

The court said the records revealed the victims were all aged less than 15 years when the crime was committed.

"A perusal of the chargesheet…further reflects that the accused warden forced the children…to watch pornographic movies and repeatedly subjected them to sexual assault. The medical reports of most of the victims corroborate the fact that they were sexually assaulted as marks of violence were noticed on their private parts," the court, which took up the case suo moto, said.

It said since the offence under Section 376AB of IPC was applied in the case, it was mandatory to ensure presence of the informant or any person authorized by him at the time of hearing of the bail application but the records revealed the Special Court acted in gross disregard to this mandatory provision.

The Gauhati High Court said the Special Court had granted bail to the accused in an "absolutely casual manner despite observing that the statements of the victims reveal a grave offence having been committed" and without giving due consideration to the objections of the Special Public Prosecutor.

"The larger issue which bothers the mind of the Court is regarding safety of the victims… after the release of the accused on bail…" the court ordered.

"Let notice of the bail cancellation proceedings be issued to the accused…and shall be provided dasti to Mr I Chowdhury, learned Advocate General (AG), Arunachal Pradesh for ensuring service upon the accused through the Officer-in-Charge of the Police Station concerned for the next date of listing," the court ordered.

After port infras, Ukraine's farm storage sites targeted

Missiles destroy 100 metric tons of peas & 20 metric tons of barley

A farm storage building is seen heavily damaged after a Russian attack in Odesa region, Ukraine on Friday | AP

KYIV

RUSSIA followed its withdrawal from a grain export deal by expanding its attacks from port infrastructure to farm storage buildings in Ukraine's Odesa region on Friday.

Other Russian missiles damaged what officials described only as an "important infrastructure facility" southwest of the port city of Odesa, in what appeared to be an effort to cripple Ukraine's food exports.

Attacks in recent days have put Odesa in Russia's crosshairs after Moscow abandoned a wartime deal that allowed Ukraine to send grain through the key Black Sea port.

In the attack on the storage site, two low-flying cruise missiles started a blaze, then another struck during firefighting efforts, regional Gov. Oleh Kiper said. The barrage injured two persons, damaged equipment and destroyed 100 metric tons of peas and 20 metric tons of barley, Kiper said.

Russia targeted Ukrainian critical grain export infrastructure after vowing to retaliate for what it said was a Ukrainian attack that damaged a crucial bridge between Russia and the Moscow-annexed Crimean Peninsula.

"The enemy is continuing terror, and it's undoubtedly related to the grain deal," said Natalia Humeniuk, a spokeswoman for the Ukrainian military's Operational Command South.

The Institute for the Study of War, a Washington-based think tank, said the recent strikes against port and grain infrastructure and threats of escalation at sea "are likely a part of a Kremlin effort to leverage Russia's exit from the Black Sea Grain Initiative and exact extensive concessions from the West."

In Turkey, President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said Western countries should address Russia's demands to restore the Black Sea grain corridor.

"Russia has some expectations. If these are overcome, Russia is in favour of the active work of this grain corridor," said Erdogan, who helped negotiate the deal. "We know that (Putin) has some expectations from Western countries. Western countries need to take action on this issue." He reiterated he would talk to Putin by phone and hoped to meet him in Turkey next month. AP

Russian navy carries out live fire exercise in Black Sea

MOSCOW

RUSSIA'S navy carried out a live fire exercise in the Black Sea, the defence ministry said on Friday, days after the Kremlin declared it would consider ships travelling to Ukraine through the waterway potential military targets.

In Moscow, the defence ministry said that a missile boat "carried out live firing of anti-ship cruise missiles at the target ship" in the northwestern part of the Black Sea. "The target ship was destroyed as a result of a missile strike," the ministry said. Ships and fleet aviation had also "worked out actions to isolate the area temporarily closed to navigation, and also carried out a set of measures to detain the offending ship," the ministry added.

Russia and China's navies have also carried out a joint exercise in the Sea of Japan.

Meanwhile, Russia said on Friday that it understood the concerns African nations may have after Moscow left the Ukrainian grain deal.

Those countries in need would receive the necessary assurances at a summit later this month, Russian deputy foreign minister Sergey Vershinin said. "We understand the concerns our African friends may have. But I want to say that these concerns are not only understandable but will be fully taken into account."

"The countries in need in the course of contacts with us and in the course of the upcoming Russia-Africa summit will naturally receive the necessary assurances regarding their needs for agricultural products—first of all grain," he added. AFP

PAK PREZ ALVI LIKELY TO REMAIN IN POWER EVEN AFTER HIS TERM ENDS

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S President Arif Alvi is likely to continue as the head of state even after his term ends on September 8 as there will be no electoral college in the country to elect a new president in his place.

According to the Constitution, a new president will be voted by the electoral college comprising the Senate, the National Assembly and all the provincial assemblies.

While the assemblies of Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa provinces have already been dissolved, the others are set to be dissolved next month ahead of the general election.

Alvi, Pakistan's 13th head of state, will likely continue as there will be no assemblies and no electoral college to elect a new president in his place, the Geo News reported.

According to Pakistan's Constitution, "Election to the office of President shall be held not earlier than sixty days and not later than thirty days before the expiration of the term of the President in office: Provided that, if the election cannot be held within the period aforesaid because the National Assembly is dissolved, it shall be held within thirty days of the general election to the Assembly."

Therefore, the presidential polls have to be held 30 days prior to September 8.

"The electoral college, at present, is incomplete because Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa assemblies do not exist; therefore, the president cannot be elected," Rashid Chaudhry, the deputy director of programmes at the Free and Fair Election Network (FAFEN), told Geo News.

Meanwhile, Adviser to Punjab Chief Minister on Law and Parliamentary Affairs, Kunwar Dilshad, said that the election for the president will take place once the electoral college is complete.

According to the Constitution, the president shall continue to hold office even after his term expires until a new president is elected and assumes office. PTI

Inform SC about trial

Pakistan's top judge directed that military court should not begin a trial of those involved in the violence on May 9 without informing the SC. Chief Justice Umar Ata Bandial gave this direction during the hearing of multiple petitions challenging military trial of civilians, mostly supporters of Imran Khan.

China reschedules debt

China has agreed to reschedule over $2 billion debt of Pakistan for a period of two years, providing a major relief to the government. The Economic Coordination Committee of the Cabinet on Thursday, approved the revised terms of the deal reached between Islamabad and Beijing, the Express Tribune newspaper reported.

Petroleum dealers to strike work today

KARACHI

THE petroleum dealers in Pakistan have threatened to hold a nationwide strike from Saturday as they are dissatisfied with Shehbaz Sharif-led government on its failure to increase their profit margins, a media report said on Friday.

Speaking at a press conference here, Pakistan Petroleum Dealers Association (PPDA) Chairman Samiullah Khan, expressed their frustration over the government's inability to raise their profit margin to 5% on the sale of two major petroleum products, The Express Tribune newspaper reported.

Currently fixed at Rs 6 per litre (2.4%), the 5% margin would amount to over Rs 12 per litre, given the prevailing petrol and diesel prices of Rs 253/litre and Rs 253.50/litre, respectively, the report said.

The latest fortnightly work for determining petroleum product prices, effective from July 16, indicated that the dealers were receiving Rs 7/litre instead of the claimed Rs 6/litre.

However, this Rs 7 margin falls significantly short of the 5% demand the dealers have been persistently making, a promise that was made by the Shehbaz government.

A dealer later told the newspaper that Minister of State (Petroleum Division) Musadik Malik had reached out to the association's chairman, pledging to hold a meeting with them in Karachi on Saturday.

However, if no meeting occurs or there is no satisfactory outcome, the demonstration will continue, except on the two days of Muharram (falling on July 28-29) to ensure that the religious event is not affected. PTI

CHALLENGES AHEAD

Another challenge for the dealers is posed by the presence of Iranian smuggled products, especially diesel, in local markets, which has reduced sales by around 30%.

MUSLIMS EXPRESS OUTRAGE OVER QURAN DESECRATION

BEIRUT

THOUSANDS of people took to the streets in a handful of Muslim-majority countries on Friday to express their outrage at the desecration of a copy of the Quran in Sweden, a day after protesters stormed the country's embassy in Iraq.

Under scorching heat on Friday, thousands gathered in Baghdad's Sadr City, a stronghold of influential Iraqi Shiite cleric Muqtada al-Sadr, some of whose followers took part in the attack on the Swedish Embassy. They brandished Qurans, burned the Swedish flag and the LGBTQ rainbow flag.

Hezbollah supporters raise the Quran during a rally after Friday prayers in the southern Beirut suburb of Dahiyeh in Lebanon on Friday | AP

Iraqi PM Mohammed Shia al-Sudani had called on protesters and security forces to ensure that the demonstrations remained peaceful.

In the southern suburbs of Beirut, thousands more gathered at a protest called by the Iran-backed militia and political party Hezbollah, also brandishing copies of the holy book and chanting "with our blood, we protect the Quran."

In Iran, thousands marched in Tehran and other cities across the country, demonstrations that were aired on state television.

Leaders in several Muslim-majority countries condemned the desecration of the Quran and summoned diplomats from Sweden to express their outrage. Iranian Foreign Minister Hossein Amirabdollahian wrote a letter to the United Nations secretary-general.

Pakistani PM Shehbaz Sharif called on the 57-nation Organization of Islamic Cooperation to play a "historic role in expressing the sentiments of Muslims and stopping this demonisation." AP

Sunak's Conservatives face losses in two bypolls

LONDON

UK's ruling Conservatives on Friday held the former seat of ex-PM Boris Johnson, but saw hefty majorities in two other constituencies evaporate as voters responded to scandals during his tenure and high inflation. UK PM Rishi Sunak had been expected to become the first PM in decades to lose three parliamentary seats in one day. The Tories' narrow victory in the suburban seat of Uxbridge and South Ruislip, which was won by Conservative Steve Tuckwell by 495 votes, spared Sunak the humiliation of being the first PM for 55 years to lose three by-elections in one night.

But the erasure of his party's 19,000 majority in the Somerton and Frome seat in southwest England, and its 20,000 majority in the Selby and Ainsty constituency in the northeast, represent bitter blows ahead of an expected general election in 2024.

"By-elections midterm for an incumbent government are always difficult, they rarely win them," Sunak said. "The message I take away is that we've got to double down, stick to our plan and deliver for people... and earn people's trust for the next election." Sunak said the results showed that the next general election, due by the end of 2024, was not "a done deal."

Selling in IT stocks drags down Nifty50 from near 20,000 level

The 50-share NSE index settled below 234 points, or 1.17%, at 19,745 on Friday

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

THE stage was set for the NSE Nifty50 to hit the 20,000 milestone on Friday but the two benchmarks- Nifty and Sensex- plummeted by more than 1% and broke a 6-day winning streak. Owing to an 8% slump in Infosys and massive selling across the IT pack, Sensex plunged over 1,000 points intraday to slip below the 67,000 mark while the Nifty50 closed below the 19,750 level.

The 30-share index closed the Friday session with a loss of 888 points, or 1.31%, at 66,684.26 while the broader Nifty50 settled below 234 points, or 1.17%, at 19,745. Owing to a sharp selloff across the spectrum, investors lost nearly Rs 2 lakh crore as the overall market capitalisation of firms listed on BSE came down to about ₹302.1 lakh crore on Friday from nearly ₹304 lakh crore on Thursday.

Nifty50, at a high of 19,992 on Thursday, was expected to breach the 20,000 mark on Friday but a sharp cut in FY25 growth guidance by Infosys along with overnight selling in the tech-heavy NASDAQ (United States) proved to be too much for the bulls to continue the rally.

Add to it, an average Q1 show by HUL and expectations that Reliance Industries on Friday will report a double-digit decline in Q1FY24 profit jittered investors' sentiment.

Infosys (down 7.73%), Hindustan Unilever (down 3.60%), HCL Tech (down 3.17%), Wipro (down 3.05%), TCS (down 2.58%) and Reliance Industries (down 2.48%) ended as the top losers in the Nifty index. Among sectoral indexes, the IT index collapsed 4.09%.

"Overnight fall in tech-heavy Nasdaq triggered a wave of massive correction in local software stocks led by Infosys, which slashed the revenue growth guidance for the rest of the year due to sharp deterioration in discretionary spending by the clients," said Amol Athawale, Vice President - Technical Research, Kotak Securities.

Athawale added that the record upsurge in the markets in such a quick time was already raising concerns of expensive valuations, and hence investors took this opportunity of weak US cues to prune their holdings, although India's fundamentals remain on strong footing.

Backed by billions of dollars of FPI inflows, Sensex and Nifty, had gained about 16% each from March lows. Since Nifty is trading about 20 times FY24 estimated earnings, there are concerns related to high valuations.

Ajit Mishra, SVP - Technical Research, Religare Broking, expect Nifty to spend some time around the current levels, to digest the recent surge and it would be healthy. Meanwhile, participants should focus more on risk management for the existing trades and prefer sectors that are showing resilience for fresh positions, added Mishra.

Siddhartha Khemka, Head - Retail Research, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said that all eyes will be on the US Fed and ECB policy meeting next week. "Investors would also take cues from various macro data that would be released. With the result season picking up pace, we expect a lot of stock-specific action and provide direction to domestic equities in the coming week," added Khemka.

Utkarsh shares list at 91.76% premium over IPO price

On expected lines, shares of Utkarsh Small Finance Bank listed at a premium of 60% to ₹40 apiece on the National Stock Exchange over their IPO price of ₹25 apiece. Despite this massive listing gain, investors queued up to buy the stock as its shares ended at a premium of 91.76% over the IPO price, at ₹47.94 apiece. Utkarsh's maiden share sale, between July 12 and July 14, was subscribed 101.91 times by its final day. Anubhuti Mishra, equity research analyst at Swastika Investmart Ltd, said, "After listing at such a level, we will suggest booking this gain; however, aggressive investors can choose to buy during any subsequent dip."

Drop in FDI inflows major concern for govt

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

DECLINE in foreign direct investment (FDI) amid global slowdown has the government worrying, as it is trying all possible measures to retain investors, a top government official said.

As per him, the only concern before the country at present is further the likely decline in FDI in the current fiscal. He said that the other economic indicators such as inflation, fiscal deficit, current account deficit are faring well as compared with other countries.

"There has already been a fall in FDI. We are trying to implement more measures to improve ease of doing business to retain investors. In this monsoon session, we have listed "Jan Vishwas (Amendment of Provisions) Bill, 2023", which will reduce compliance burden and ease backlog of court cases," the official said. Jan Vishwas Bill seeks to decriminalise minor offences by amending 183 provisions across 42 acts administered by 19 ministries. "The bill encourages ease of doing business as it decriminalizes minor offences by replacing them with monetary penalties. It is also addressing the issue of outdated rules and regulations which dampens the trust of investors," the official added. The centre is already pushing for infrastructure development, simplification of the taxation system, digitization and easing of trade regulation to boost investors' sentiments, the official added.

Aviation regulator gives approval to Go First for resumption of operations

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE grounded carrier, Go First, may chart a history and become the first airline to bounce back after suspending operations as the country's civil aviation regulator Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) has conditionally accepted its resumption plan which was submitted late last month.

The regulator has set conditions such as making interim funding available for operations and getting its flight schedule approved to resume operations. DGCA has approved Go First's plan to restart operations with 15 aircraft and 114 daily flights.

DGCA has directed the airline to ensure compliance with all the "applicable regulatory requirements, ensure continued airworthiness of the aircraft engaged in operations and subjecting every aircraft to a satisfactory handling flight prior to deployment for flight operations." It also said the sale of tickets can be only commenced after the approval of the flight schedule by the regulator.

DGCA conducted a special audit of Go First facilities in Mumbai and Delhi from 4th to 6th July 2023. The audit focused on the safety-related aspects and continued compliance of the requirements by an operator to hold an Air Operator Certificate as well as on the physical verification of the arrangements made for the resumption of flight operations.

DGCA noted that the flight operations shall be subject to the proceedings and/or outcomes in the ongoing Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process at NCLT, Delhi and other writ petitions/ applications by the Lessors of aircraft leased to Go First, which are pending in the High Court of Delhi and NCLT, Delhi.

Cash-strapped Go First stopped flying on May 3 and is currently going thorough an insolvency resolution process.

RIL net profit falls 11% on weak petroleum biz, finance cost

SACHIN KUMAR @Mumbai

RELIANCE INDUSTRIES LIMITED (RIL), country's most valuable firm in terms of market capitalisation, on Friday, announced an 11% decline in net profit to ₹16,011 crore for the quarter ending June 2023, compared to ₹17,955 crore in the same quarter the previous year.

The company's profit was impacted by weakness in its oil-to-chemical (O2C) business and higher finance and depreciation cost. Finance cost jumped 46% to ₹5,837 crore due to higher interest rates and loan balances.

Depreciation increased by 31.7% to ₹11,775 crore due to expanded asset base across all the businesses and higher network utilisation in Digital Services business.

EBITDA for the quarter rose 5.1 percent to ₹41,982 crore. The growth in EBITDA was led by consumer and upstream businesses, which offset decline in O2C earnings.

Mukesh Ambani-led conglomerate reported 5.4% fall in revenue to ₹2.1 lakh crore from ₹2.22 lakh crore in the year-ago period, mainly driven by 17.7% drop in sales at the oil-to-chemicals segment, which took a hit from 31% decline in crude oil prices and lower price realisation of downstream products.

Oil-to-telecom major declared a dividend of Rs 9 for the financial year 2023.

The mainstay oil refining and petrochemicals business, called O2C, posted a 23.2 percent fall in EBITDA to Rs 15,271 crore. Rising demand, low inventories and oil market disruption centred around Russia's invasion of Ukraine pushed cracks -the differential between a barrel of crude oil (raw material) and the petroleum products refined from it - to record last year.

Diesel cracks in June last year soared to $ 74.95 a barrel while petrol cracks neared $ 42. Jet fuel cracks soared to $62. Diesel cracks in June this year hovered between $16 and $19 while petrol cracks were in the range of $10 to $14.

The conglomerate continued to post an uptick in consumer businesses of retail and telecom. While higher subscriber addition, stable ARPU (average revenue per user) and more users converting to 5G boosted telecom segment earnings, the retail segment performed better than peers despite no demand trigger such as the festive season.

"Reliance's strong operating and financial performance this quarter demonstrates the resilience of our diversified portfolio of businesses that cater to demand across industrial and consumer segments," said Mukesh Ambani, Chairman and Managing Director, RIL.

Jio net profit rises 12.5% to ₹5,098 crore in first quarter

NEW DELHI: Digital services company Jio Platforms on Friday reported a 12.5% year-over-year jump in net profit at ₹5,098 crore in the June 2023 quarter on account of subscriber additions and better realisation per user. The company had posted a net profit of ₹4,530 crore in the same period a year ago. Revenue from operations of Jio Platforms came in at Rs 26,115 crore during the reported quarter, up 11.3 per cent from 23,467 crore over the year-ago period. ENS

Forex reserves at 15-month high of $609 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

INDIA'S forex reserves rose $12.74 billion to hit 15-month high of $609 billion in the week ended July 14, according to Reserve Bank of India (RBI) released on Friday. The reserves had risen by $1.23 billion to $596.28 billion in the previous week.

According to analysts, a major portion of the rise in forex reserves is driven by revaluation gains due to dollar weakness and reduction in US treasury yields while rest of the gains were due to the RBI's forex purchases in the spot foreign exchange markets.

India's forex kitty had reached an all-time high of $645 billion in October 2021.

For the week ended July 14, the foreign currency assets, a major component of the reserves, increased by $11.198 billion to $540.166 billion, according to the Weekly Statistical Supplement released by the RBI on Friday. Gold reserves were up by $1.14 billion to $45.197 billion, the RBI said.

Meanwhile, rupee declined 4 paise to close at 81.97 against the US dollar on Friday, impacted by a rebound in the American currency and firm crude oil prices in global markets.

JAPAN

GOVT EXPECTS INFLATION EXCEEDING BOJ TARGET

Japan government sees inflation sharply exceeding the central bank's 2% target this year. Broadening price rises may keep alive market expectations of an end to ultra-low interest rates. Bank of Japan in its policy meeting will revise its quarterly forecasts and debate progress on sustainably meeting its price target. The government, in its mid-year review, expects consumer inflation to hit 2.6% for the fiscal year that began in April, which is sharp rise from 1.7% projected in January. The government has slashed its economic growth forecast and expects the economy to expand 1.3% this fiscal year due to a hit to exports from slowing global demand. In January, it had estimated economic growth at 1.5%. The government projects inflation to slow next fiscal year. BOJ BOJ Governor Kazuo Ueda has brushed aside the possibility of a near-term exit from ultra-loose policy.

SRI LANKA

RETAIL INFLATION SLOWS TO 10.8% IN JUNE

Sri Lanka's retail inflation slowed to 10.8% year-on-year in June from 22.1% in May on account of sharp fall in food price rises, the country's statistics department said on Friday. Food prices slowing from an annual rise of 15.8% in May to 2.5% in June, Sri Lanka's Department of Census and Statistics said in a statement. Inflation for non-food items rose 18.3% YoYin June. The country's inflation has come down sharply in the last two months from the runaway levels seen earlier on account of the statistical base effect, better harvests, and a stronger rupee, which has lowered costs for fuel and power. The International Monetary Fund (IMF) had released a $2.9 billion bailout for the country as it was facing acute foreign exchange crisis.

SOUTH KOREA

EXPORT RECOVERY TO BE SLUGGISH: CENTRAL BANK

South Korea's exports are likely to recover a slower rate than it was expected earlier on account of a narrower gap in competitiveness against China, the country's central bank said in a report on Friday. Recent weakness in China-bound exports was 35% because of structural factors such as higher competitiveness of Chinese companies, while 65% resulted from a cyclical factor of weak demand, the Bank of Korea (BOK) said. According to the data published on Friday, the country's exports for the first 20 days of July fell 15% over a year, after falling 6% for the whole of June. Data suggests exports will extend their downturn this month to a tenth consecutive month and it may take some time for exports to fully get on a recovery path. South Korea posted a surplus of $56.38 billion in trade of goods with the US last year.

Chinese mobilemakers evaded ₹9,000 cr in duties, GST in 5 yrs

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

CHINESE mobile manufacturers in India evaded custom duty worth ₹7,966 crore in the past five years, according to the government data.

Chinese companies – Oppo, Vivo and Xiaomi -- captured majority of the mobile market in India, also evaded goods and services tax (GST) worth ₹1,109 crore during the same period.

Minister of state Electronic and Information Technology Rajeev Chandrasekhar, in a written reply to Rajya Sabha, said the government managed to recover ₹604.55 out of the total customs duty evasion and ₹1,025 crore GST.

"These (Chinese) companies manufacture mobile handsets either by themselves or through contract manufacturers. Their cumulative turnover in 2021-22 was estimated to be ₹1.5 lakh crore in India. The total direct employment generated by them in their manufacturing operations is more than 75,000. They also have a sales and operational workforce of around 80,000 workers," said Rajeev Chandrasekhar.

Major Chinese mobile handset brands, which are operating in India are Oppo, Vivo, Xiaomi, Transsion (operates three brands in India viz. Itel, Tecno and Infinix), Realme and Oneplus, informed the minister. They hold more than 73% market share in the smartphone segment. These companies either have their own manufacturing units or they work with contract manufacturers like Bharat FIH Limited and DBG Technology (India) Private Limited, also which have set up Electronics Manufacturing Services (EMS) operations in India.

"The distribution of mobile handsets is mainly handled by Indian companies, however, some of the Chinese companies like Oppo and Vivo have some Chinese distributors also," informed the minister in a written reply to Rajya Sabha.

Following the Galwan clash in 2020 with Chinese troops, the Indian investigation agency came dowm heavily on Chinese companies.

Dunzo likely to fire 200 in third round of layoff

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

RELIANCE Retail and Google-backed quick commerce start-up Dunzo, which has been delaying employees salaries for a month, will now layoff more employees.

This is the third round of layoffs in which about 200 employees are likely to be fired. Though Dunzo refused to comment on this, sources confirmed that a few employees have received notifications regarding this as the company is said to be streamlining its cash flow. This development comes a day after the start-up has announced further delay in the salaries of employees at least till early September. Already the company had fired over 400 employees. At present, the start-up has employed about 1,000 people. Recently, in an internal note to employees, the start-up said it is "streamlining our cash flow so we can build a more sustainable business for the future."

RESULTS

ASHOK LEYLAND PROFIT UP 747%

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU @Chennai

COMMERCIAL vehicle maker Ashok Leyland net profit jumped 747% to ₹576 crore in the April- June quarter (Q1), compared to ₹68 crores in the same period last year.

This is aided by lower tax expenses on the back of deferred tax credit of Rs 172 on transition to the lower tax regime. Efforts in reducing cost resulted in margin improvement, Dheeraj Hinduja, Executive Chairman of Ashok Leyland said while addressing press persons in the city. The lower cost of materials also contributed to the rise in profit.

Revenue stood at ₹8189, witnessing 13% increase on an yearly basis, compared to ₹7223 in Q1 last year. Company's EBITDA (Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation, and Amortization) stood at ₹821 crore.

VEDANTA NET PROFIT FALLS 40%

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

VEDANTA LTD on Friday reported a 40.84% fall in its consolidated net profit to ₹3,308 crore in the April-June quarter, dragged by lower income.

Its "profit after tax before share in profit/ (loss) of jointly controlled entities and associates" was at Rs 5,592 crore in the same period of 2022-23, Vedanta Ltd said in a BSE filing. However, on a quarter-on-quarter, the company's net profit was 5.61% higher over ₹3,132 crore in the January-March quarter. The company's total income also fell to ₹34,279 crore from ₹39,355 crore in the year-ago period. Its expenses were at ₹31,973 crore as against Rs 32,095 crore a year ago. It further said Sunil Duggal completes his tenure as the WholeTime Director & CEO of the company effective close of business hours on July 31.

PAYTM LOSS NARROWS TO ₹358 CR

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

FINTECH firm One97 Communications, which operates under the Paytm brand, on Friday reported narrowing of loss to ₹358.4 crore.

The company had posted a loss of ₹645.4 crore in the same period a year ago. The revenue from operations of the company increased by 39.4 per cent to Rs 2,341.6 crore during the reported quarter from Rs 1,679.6 crore in the June 2022 quarter.

The company said that its merchant payments volume (GMV) grew 37 per cent YoY to Rs 4.05 lakh crore in the April-June quarter of FY2023-24.

"Paytm's EBITDA before ESOP margin stood at 4 per cent on the account of consistent improvement in profitability due to strong revenue growth, increasing contribution margin and operating leverage," the statement said.

Satiwik-Chirag in SF of Korea Open

Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty entered the semifinals of the Korea Open Super 500 tournament with a straight games win over Japan's Takuro Hoki and Yugo Kobayashi on Friday. The world No 3 took just 40 minutes to get the better of the fifth seeded Japanese pair 21-14 21-17.

Gukesh days away from overhauling Carlsen's longstanding record

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

D GUKESH, long been considered as the gold standard for the upcoming generation of chess players from India, is expected to overhaul a longstanding Magnus Carlsen mark. The 17-year-old is set to become the youngest ever player to have a published rating of 2750. Gukesh, who breached the 2750 mark following his unbeaten showing in the Turkish Super League, has a live rating of 2750.9 and is tipped to maintain that mark when FIDE publishes its next ratings in 10 days or so. Carlsen and Alireja Firoujza also broke the 2750 barrier when they were 17 but Gukesh is younger.

Gukesh, who is currently preparing for the World Cup to be held from later this month, is also in line to go past a record that's stood for 37 years. Viswanathan Anand has always been India's No. 1 in Classical play since 1986 (in published ratings) but Gukesh is just 3.1 rating points away). However, Gukesh isn't focusing on such milestones. Not now anyway.

Right now, his focus is on qualifying for the eight-person Candidates event next April. The Chennai-born teen has multiple ways to get into that event. Finishing in the top three of the World Cup is one route. The other straightforward route is to be in the top two of the Grand Swiss Tournament.

One reason why he has risen from World No. 24 to knocking on the door of the top 10 in the last six months is the work he has put in on his openings. "Wanted to be in the top 10 at the beginning of the year," his coach, Vishnu Prasanna, told this daily. "He has become more consistent. In the last six-eight months, his openings have improved. He's devoting more time to it than he used to. That's the main difference."

He also has an ace up his sleeve. He has spent some quality time with Polish GM, Grzegorz Gajewski. "He has support from Vishy's Academy as well as Gajewski," Prasanna said. "He's also part of the team, he's the main guy responsible for the openings along with Vishy." He has also become more intimate with the grammar of studying his opponents before tournaments. "He's playing more closed events, knows who his opponents are. Seeing what his opponents are doing and preparing according to that, he's doing that more than before." Even if overtaking Anand is a very real prospect in the next month or so, qualifying for the Candidates is the short-term goal. "Focus is on that," Prasanna said. "There are a few qualifying events coming up in the next few months." It's one of the hardest competitions to get to but Gukesh, going by recent trend, is giving himself the best possible shot at featuring in it.

KNOW GUKESH

Age: 17

Live Rating: 2750.9 (11th in the world)

FIDE Rating: 2744

- Expected to be the youngest to ever have a published Rating of over 2750 when the next FIDE ratings come out in just over a week
- Is just 3.1 rating points behind Viswanathan Anand. No Indian has managed to overhaul Anand's FIDE Classical Rating since July 1986

HC reserves order as wrestlers suffer wait

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

WRESTLING is in mess would be an understatement. After a long wait, the trials to select teams for the Asian Games will begin on Saturday but wrestlers are more concerned about Delhi High Court order that is reserved and will be passed on Saturday. For a sportsperson any kind of distraction is a sacrilege.

The matter pertaining to direct entries to Olympic medallist Bajrang Punia (65kg) and World Championships medallist Vinesh Phogat (53kg) did not go down well with the wrestling community in general. The two aggrieved wrestlers in the weight categories - world U-20 champion Antim Phangal and U-23 Asian champion Sujeet Kalkal - approached the Delhi High Court on Thursday. The matter was listed with Justice Subramonium Prasad and after the day's hearing on Friday he has reserved the order for Saturday. Interestingly, the trials will be held over July 22 and 23 and the last date to send names for the Asian Games for wrestling is July 23 (relaxation given by Olympic Council of Asia).

The judge was quite categorical, according wrestlers' coach, wanted to know if any WFI selection policy was violated. The Indian Olympic Association ad hoc committee had argued that they had followed WFI selection policy and invoked the selection clause that exempted "iconic athletes such as Olympic/World Championships medallist from trials and is based on recommendation of coaches". The petitioners argued that such a clause was withdrawn during a general council meeting last August. The respondent, however, said that the said minutes of the meeting was not part of the WFI records.

Whatever it is, the wrestlers are all affected. Family members of a few aggrieved wrestlers also went to IG Stadium in New Delhi where the trials will take place and argued with the ad hoc panel members. In fact, Dayanand Kalkal, father of Sujeet, told this newspaper that if need be on Saturday they will squat on the mat during trials as a protest. "We will protest inside the venue if need arises. We will sit on the mat as a mark of protest. We can only hope the court rules in our favour and if its doesn't then we will intensify the protest. How can you deny someone a trial? My son and other wrestlers are training for months and now they are told that they will be made stand-by even if they win the trials. This is grave injustice to these wrestlers," Dayanand said.

Trials behind closed doors

Given the situation, the ad-hoc panel has decided to hold the trials behind closed doors. According to a panel member only the wrestlers, their coaches and masseurs will be allowed inside the venue.

Olympic medallist's brother comes out in defence, asks panel to publically name list of exempted wrestlers

Bajrang will speak when he is named in exempted wrestlers' list, says brother Harender

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

EVER since the ad-hoc committee has announced that wrestlers in 65kg men's freestyle and 53kg women's wrestling have been selected for Asian Games without selection trials, Bajrang Punia and Vinesh Phogat have come in the line of fire. Sakshi Malik's revelations on a call from the government with a source confirming the same approach to Ravi Dahiya didn't help the duo's cause either.

With his younger brother under attack, Harender Punia on Friday came out in support of Bajrang saying he will never let the Olympic and multiple Worlds medallist compete without undertaking trials.

"I will be the first to stop him if he ever tries to appear in a competition skipping the selection trials," Harender told this daily.

Three-year elder to Bajrang, Harender started wrestling first and his junior sibling joined him a few years later. They trained together for at least five-six years before Harender gave up the sport due to financial constraints. "Only one of us could have pursued wrestling and we decided Bajrang should carry on with it," he added.

On direct entry given to Bajrang for Asian Games, he said, "Has the ad-hoc committee named him? If not how can he clarify. The panel should make public that Bajrang has been selected then only he will react. I am in constant touch with him and even spoken to him on the issue. He said 'I will only speak if the committee names me'. He has never asked for direct selection and this time also he will come back from Kyrgyzstan next month and appear in trials for Asiad. If he wins, he will go otherwise he will not go."

The ongoing mess and blame-game has disrupted life of Punia family, claimed Harender. "We are all worried for Bajrang. The amount of criticism he has been receiving, I can understand how much he must be suffering now. But one thing is clear, he will never want any junior wrestler to suffer. The fight was not for him but it was for all the wrestlers including the upcoming ones. He will not let them down."

Harender said he will be the first to ask Bajrang to quit wrestling if his younger brother resorts to unfair means."They were told that they will get time to train and prepare for trials that's why they have gone out of the country. Let him come back and participate in the trials. If he is worthy, he will go. If not, let other wrestler, who deserves a place in the squad go," signed off Harender.

WFI election on Aug 12, revised schedule out

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE much-awaited election to the executive committee of the Wrestling Federation of India will now be held on August 12. The returning officer Justice MM Kumar, retired chief justice from the J&K High Court, issued the revised schedule on Friday.

As per the revised schedule, all the stages that had already been completed before the Gauhati High Court stayed the election process on June 25 (Sunday) will be deemed over. The process will now begin with preparation and display of the electoral college and circulation to affiliates and publishing the same on website of the Indian Olympic Association and WFI on Friday.

As many as five units apart from the recognised associations from the respective states staked their claims for sending two representatives for the WFI election before the process was stalled. The returning officer had heard those units and have been resolved to ensure the electoral college is prepared and sent to affiliated state units. In the case of the Himachal Pradesh Wrestling Association the RO said in an order that the dispute between two factions have been resolved and will be part of electoral college.

The RO also allowed Telangana Wrestling Association's Hamza-bin Omer and K Narsing Rao to be part of the electoral college. The RO also allowed Rohtas Singh and Rakesh Singh to represnet Haryana.

Notably, the Andhra Pradesh Amateur Wrestling Association challenged the stay on the election in the Supreme Court through an SLP and the Apex Court stayed the interim direction of the Gauhati High Court.

"A communication to that effect has been received on my office mail from Sh Hemant Raj Phalpher, Advocate late in the evening on 18.7.2023 disclosing that the Honourable Supreme Court has stayed the interim direction issued by the Gauhati High Court on 25.6.2023 and a copy of the order date 18.7.23 has also been sent. Accordingly, electoral process will proceed further from the stage where it was on 25.6.2023 under the following schedule," reads the notification issued by the RO on Friday.

As per the revised schedule, submission of nominations for elections in Form 2 can be submitted to the returning officer in person on July 28, 29 and 31 with July 30 being Sunday. The nominations received will be displayed on August 1 while scrutiny of those papers will be done the next day. Withdrawal of candidatures can be done from August 3 to 5. The final list of contesting candidates will be displayed on August 7. Polling, counting of votes and announcement of results are scheduled for August 12.

IOA SEEKS APPLICATION FOR PRESS ATTACHE

CHENNAI: In what could be termed as an unprecedented move, the Indian Olympic Association has invited applications for the post of press attache. On Friday, unlike on previous occasions, the IOA announced, on its website, its willingness to appoint a candidate instead of nominating one. Earlier, the IOA usually used to have a media division headed with an honorary member in charge. According to the application listed out certain responsibilities that includes compelling story telling, media coordination, press conferences and international exposure. The qualification too is basic and anyone with enough experience in journalism can apply. The last date of application is on July 31 and should be sent to ioa@olympic.ind.in.

Bumrah bowling in nets with full flow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

JASPRIT Bumrah has been 'bowling with full intensity in the nets' and is in the final stages before a planned comeback to the national team next month. Bumrah, who last represented India in a T20I series last year at home to Australia, has been suffering from a back injury.

According to a Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) press release, he is set to take part in a few practice matches before making a final assessment on him. Prasidh Krishna, who is also in the National Cricket Academy in Bengaluru, will also be part of the above-mentioned practice games. "The two fast bowlers are in the final stages of their rehab and are bowling with full intensity in the nets," the release said. "The duo will now play some practice games, which the NCA will organise. The BCCI medical team is pleased with their progress and will make a final decision after assessing them following the practice games."

KL Rahul, Shreyas Iyer and Rishabh Pant are further behind. While Rahul and Iyer have resumed batting in the nets, Pant, following a 'dedicated a fitness programme', has begun keeping. "He (Pant) has made significant progress in his rehabilitation and has commenced batting as well as keeping in the nets. He is currently following a fitness programme designed for him which includes strength, flexibility and running," the release noted. With respect to Rahul and Iyer, their intensity (Both in terms of skill and strength) is set to increase in the coming days.

Kohli hits 1st away Test ton since 2018

GOMESH S @Auckland

VIRAT Kohli is on his regular leg-stump guard. Just as the pacer reaches the crease, his trigger movement kicks in; he moves to middle-stump with both feet getting aligned in the stance. As the ball leaves the bowler's hand, his front foot moves towards covers at off-stump, he leans forward with his hands to face the ball on seventh stump.

This is not an an unfamiliar sight. We have seen the former Indian captain do this through his career, creaming the ball through covers followed by an exuberant reaction from the batter himself. Every time he was successful at it, he was called a genius, a master. It is what made millions of fans, former players and media included, go gaga over his craft. The nonchalance of it. The ease with which he was doing it so often.

In the last four years, however, it has often resulted in his downfall, edging the ball to the slips, playing it on to the stumps and every other way a batter could get out playing that way. Sometimes, it was when the team needed him the most, including the World Test Championship final against Australia. Kohli chased a wide delivery from Scott Boland only to edge it to Steve Smith in the slip cordon on the final day when India were in a position to draw the game and share the title. It is such dismissals, playing the same shot that made so many a fan of him, that brought a lot of criticism on him. It's the sword he has lived and died by.

That said, on Friday, it is the same shot that took him to his 76th international century — his first away Test ton since 2018. Shannon Gabriel pitched it full and Kohli drove it to reach the milestone. He had played similar shots through the innings in the second Test against West Indies at Port of Spain. However, there seemed to be a difference from the past, even when he plays those shots through the covers successfully. The regal authority that often used to be visible isn't there as much. There is caution. A lot of it. And when it comes off, the same swagger is missing. Instead, there's a sense of reassurance and calm smile that makes you feel good. Like his celebration after scoring his 29th Test ton. Remove the helmet, raise hands, acknowledge with a smile and a bow.

In fact, its been the case since his century drought ended last year in the Asia Cup. Kohli isn't the in your face young athlete at the top of his skill looking to take on the world anymore. He has done it all, been to the top and seen almost everything there is to see. Brief scores (at lunch): India 1st Innings: 373/6 in 108 overs (Kohli 121, Jadeja 61; Roach 2/86)

Diya aims to carry UTT momentum into Asiad

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

CONVENTIONALLY, Diya Chitale is not from a sporting family. Her parents, Parag and Rashmi Chitale are teachers, while other close relatives are doctors. Now, she is playing in her debut season of Ultimate Table Tennis, the 19-year-old is enjoying the pressure and promise of the league.

"I come from a family with an educational background. Nobody has played sports professionally," Chitale told this daily. "I took table tennis up as a hobby when I was eight. I started training in Khar Gymkhana. The turning point for me came in 2014 when I won the silver medal in the U12 Nationals. With that, I wanted to pursue it as a career. I have not looked back since then."

And what a journey it has been for her. Since the inception of the UTT, she has watched the tournament reach new heights as a spectator, wishing to be part of it. "Ever since UTT started in 2017, I always wanted to play in the tournament. For the past three seasons, I have been watching the matches closely. But being part of this experience and getting that exposure has taught me a lot," she added. In the UTT, where every game carries equal weightage, there is a chance to grab points and take a team over the line. "The format in this league is tough. Every game matters. There is so much pressure for every point. Everyone screams like it's the last point (laughs). Even if you are 2-0 up, it's not over. Even if you are 0-2 down also, you have to try to pull yourself out of that and fight for the last point again."

And representing the U Mumba side, Chitale has helped them clinch points against renowned and higher ranked players. Like, for example, even in her loss against Australia's Yangzi Liu, her point against the Chennai Lion paddler proved the point of difference in the eventual win for Mumbai. Chitale believes that fightback gave her a lot of confidence.

"It's not so much about the technical aspect of the skills that they have different, but more about the belief system and mental aspect," Chitale said.

With her first-ever Asian Games appearance a month away, Chitale is trying to absorb as much as she can from the UTT. "I think this has been a great experience and atmosphere for me to learn to handle myself better. This will help me in international tournaments. Representing India at the Asian Games was one of the milestones that I had set for myself. We are aiming to give our best and hopefully, we can bring back medals for India," she concluded.

India A beat Bangladesh A; to face Pakistan A in final

AGENCIES @Colombo

INDIA A set up a potentially high-voltage Emerging Asia Cup final against Pakistan A after defeating Bangladesh A by 51 runs in the semifinals here on Friday.

Bangladesh had India on the ropes, bundling them out for 211, a total made possible by captain Yash Dhull's impressive 66 off 85 balls. But, the Indian spinners made use of the slightly tacky pitch to pack Bangladesh off for 160 to celebrate a fine victory. Left-arm spinner Nishant Sindhu accentuated Bangladesh's fall with a five-wicket haul (5 for 20). The real protagonist for India's victory was Dhull. He has been spoken about in the domestic circuit as a player to be preserved, and the day's innings showed the reason. Brief scores: India A 211 (Dhull 66) bt BAN A 160 all out in 34.2 ovs (Nishant 5/20).

With the highly-anticipated release of Barbie, pink is the colour of the season. Barbiecore has taken the fashion world by storm, with many in Bengaluru painting the town pink

Come on, Barbie, let's go party

MONIKA MONALISA

Deepika Padukone

IF there is anything that is spoken about more than the twin release of the films Barbie and Oppenheimer, it's probably Barbie's pink theme taking over the world of social media. The doll and now a movie, directed by Greta Gerwig and starring Margot Robbie and Ryan Gosling, have changed the way the world looks at the colour pink. How can the fashion world stay behind? Hopping onto the pink bandwagon, fashionistas in the city are going for all-pink outfits.

Is there anything called too much pink? Chaitanya Kenchamanna Hoskote, founder of a spa, who wore an all-pink outfit for a recent event, says absolutely not. "I didn't get to play with Barbie dolls, but I always wanted my daughter to. The pink effect is going to stay with me beyond Barbie," says Hoskote.

Socialite Ila Dorairaj Naidu took it a notch higher when she wore an all-pink outfit when she went for the first day of Barbie. "I am Team Barbie all the way. She introduced glamour to me when I was 5 years old and got my first Barbie. When Valentino did their all-pink collection last year, I was so excited because I was already doing the pink tights and pink outfit by then," explains Naidu. However, her all-time favourite pink look is a neon pink sequin shift dress with orange pink feathers from a UK high street brand. She paired it with blingy, multi-studded Louboutin heels that resemble those that Barbie dolls wear.

Many collections are also interweaving the Barbie theme, like the online clothing store, Qua, whose latest collection has various shades of pink. Rupanshi Agarwal, co-founder, says pink as a shade has always outperformed itself. "Earlier versions of pink were surely softer and calmer. But now, the pinks that we are seeing are bolder and brighter. Unsurprisingly, the colour has been doing very well," says Agarwal.

Pink is an important colour in Indian wardrobes too. And many, like international style and fashion consultant Kay Reynolds, have not shied away from having a Desi Barbie moment. "I am a pink person, although it's only recently that I've started going for more deeper, darker pink hues. Pink is such an uplifting colour on Indian skin tones; it's a colour that is pretty on both fair and deeper skin tones; it really helps to bring a glow to the skin," says Reynolds, who wore a contemporary version of a traditional Indian look.

Pink Evolution

Barbie was not always pink. The original Barbie of 1959 wore a high ponytail, had heavy-lidded eyes, and sported a striped black-and-white swimsuit. In the '70s, Mattel, the American company that owns Barbie, used pink as the colour for the doll's brand identity to market it to young girls instead of adolescents.

Speaking about her character from her latest series, actor Kubbra Sait shares the excitement of sharing screen time with industry stalwarts like Kajol

'BOTH OF US ARE HARD-HEADED AND HOT-HEADED'

MONIKA MONALISA

A few years ago, Kubbra Sait binge-watched Suits, an American courtroom drama. Fast forward to the present, and she is part of The Trial, a courtroom drama that just came out. "I've actually watched all the episodes of Suits. The beauty of Suits is that there is so much emphasis on the lives of people and not just the court cases," says Sait, who plays the role of Sana Shaikh, a consultant at the firm. She describes Sana as someone who carries 'confidence as a chip on her shoulder'. "She is undefeatable. And she takes everything in her stride and gets everything done that needs to be done. She is someone who takes responsibility and understands the power of the little things she can get. There is nothing in the world that is difficult, impossible, or out of reach for Sana. So I find her an invincible character. She is probably one of the coolest characters I've played so far," describes Sait.

The actor found many similarities between herself and Sana. "Hard-headed, hot-headed, sexy, proud of what she does, unapologetic of who she is, I feel there are a few clear similarities between Sana and me. The differences, on the other hand, would be that I am far more sensitive and emotionally present than Sana is as a human being," says Sait, who has a very next-door look in the series. "The idea was to make her look very relatable," she adds.

Sait has always proclaimed her admiration for Kajol, who leads the show. Calling the chance to work with her a great opportunity, Sait says, "She's forged such a strong connection with the audience over two decades now. As an actor, she's one of the funniest people I have worked with. She's chill and extremely professional. She knows her lines, and she's willing to collaborate. Which I guess is the quality of a good actor. It was a closed set for all of us. We interacted in between scenes all the time," recalls Sait from the shoot days.

Not just Kajol, the show includes a star cast like Jisshu Sengupta, Alyy Khan, and Sheeba Chaddha, to name a few. "Everyone in the show is so good to look at in terms of character development, and they all inspired me to be better," she adds.

Last seen in Farzi, Sait is looking forward to some interesting projects. "We all have our fingers crossed, hopefully, The Trial will have a second season. We're all hoping to work on Farzi Season 2. So a lot of good things are happening. I worked with Prakash Jha," says Sait, adding, "Good things seem to be happening, and I would like to think that I am a force to reckon with."

FIT BIT

EKA PADA UTTHITA PARSVA TADASANA 1

(ONE LEGGED FIVE-POINTED STAR POSE SIDE BEND 1)

It is an asymmetrical variation of Utthita Tadasana (Five-Pointed Star Pose). The difference between the two poses is the balancing aspect. Here, the practitioner balances the star on one leg. It looks deceivingly simple but demands good core

STEPS

- Align yourself in Utthita Tadasana, breathing for 4-5 counts. Inhale and raise your hands, aligning to Utthita Tadasana Arms Up.
- From here, inhale and take a side bend with your arms still extended above the head. Stay in this Parsva Utthita Tadasana for a couple of breaths.
- Bring your arms closer to each other keeping them shoulder-width apart and palms facing to each other. Extend the hands, keeping the elbows straight.
- Inhale and lift the right leg off the floor. Engage keeping the right leg straight, extending with the knees.
- Keep the left foot firm on the floor by engaging the knees and the quadriceps. Breathe and stay in the pose as per your capacity.
- Release and go back to realign the body in Utthita Tadasana. Stay here for a couple of breaths. Repeat on the other side.
- Practise as many rounds as possible and then relax in Dirga Pranayama Tadasana.

LIMITATIONS

People with severe arthritis in the hips, wrists, knees joints or ankles, balancing issues like vertigo, migraine or high blood pressure created due to dizziness, senior citizens and pregnant women should avoid this.

Postnatal women can practise it after gaining core and pelvic strength.

BENEFITS

- Stabilises the sacrum and hip joints.
- Stretches the arms, armpits and intercostal side muscles.
- Aids in toning quadriceps, ankles, calves and foot of the grounded leg.
- Engages diaphragm and improves elasticity.
- Helps active inhalation.
- Maintains a steady breath with core strength, improving respiratory system.
- Improves body equilibrium, calming for the nervous system.
- Therapy for postural correction, confidence-building and treating mild depression.
- Guides to create mental and body awareness.
- Helps maintain the centre of gravity (COG) or centre of mass (COM) within the body's base of support.
- Balances all the chakras, bringing mental and physical stability.
- Builds confidence, if the pose is aligned with breath.

WOMEN POWER... A MYTH OR REALITY

RUBINATIONS

Rubi Chakravarti

Writer, actor and funny girl

There is a sense of exhilaration whenever I address women on one of my training/empowerment seminars where their bright and hopeful gaze opens up a plethora of possibilities for us all. A level playing field, gender-bias free workplace and an environment unfettered with egos and subversive behaviour is perhaps an utopian dream. We think we can do it, we work tirelessly to change traditional and archaic mind sets for ourselves and our daughters till it comes down to brute strength.

As a tall woman who claims her own space, I have often had arguments with my male friends on how women cannot fight wars, (not to say that we want to) or compete in sports. As I have grown older I have learned to conserve my energy by not picking gender-bias battles. We are not at war…but the sheer magnitude of prejudice and inequality must end. It is not a battle of whether XX or XY chromosomes are better or inferior. It is about creating a space where both are welcome. Their strengths celebrated and their weaknesses accepted. An ideal world perhaps?

That is why I hooted and clapped at the 'Shefs at The Leela' event at the BhatiyaCity Leela Hotel. This (now pan-Indian) enterprise creates an equal platform for female-chefs to showcase their culinary finesse thereby giving them an opportunity to be presented to a world largely dominated by male chefs. My dear friends GM Virender Razdan (a beloved old time Bangalorean) and Sheeba Razdan made sure the event went off like clockwork.

Meha Kumar, Vanshika Bhatia, Romy Gill & Sanjana Patel

The seating arrangements, the choice of distinguished guests, the service and the cuisine personally created by the 'Shefs' was impeccable. Interspersed between courses, we had the emancipated danseuse, Madhu Nataraj's all-woman troupe perform relevant pieces denoting 'Shakti' and 'Rasanendriya' (sense of taste). My feeling of euphoria knew no bounds, thinking that perhaps the 'equal-platform' synergy is here to stay…

The news articles about ethnic violence filtering in from our North-East had me worried. But like a true-blue escapist, I hoped it would blow over. But, as it has been said before, whenever you celebrate small victories the big problems slap you in the face. I was appalled at the violence the mob unleased on the women. Rape and molestation is a weapon used to subdue the rest. When I was doing the play Vagina Monologues, writer Eves Ensler discussed how raping women was a tactical tool of war. I am so outraged and angry at the turn of events that sometimes it is hard to breathe. This is not a 'woman' problem. It is a 'Human' problem.

I met the very savvy Sonal Holland in Mumbai at a restaurant in Mumbai. She had her family with her and we naturally got talking. My husband remembers that when I went to reconnaissance the buffet-table she kept my hubby company. There are other attributes to this talented first lady of wine including being the first recipient of the prestigious 'Master of Wine' title in India. The informative wine dinner hosted by Marriott Whitefield, and the Australian trade and Investment Commission was a resounding hit, with Sonal regaling us with wine information and her easy wit.

A woman is safe in a gilded cage but God didn't create women for that…

CAREER WITH COCKTAILS

JONES ELISH

FOR those who like working in a fast-paced, social setting, a job as a mixologist or bartender can be an exciting one. It provides you the opportunity to express your creativity, while networking, and exercising your people skills. Many people have asked me how I have gotten into this profession, so, here are some pointers if you want to pursue it as a career:

Skills Required: Bartending calls for a mix of practical abilities and character traits. While knowledge of cocktail recipes, mixing procedures, and expertise with bar equipment is always good, effective communication skills, the ability to multitask, attention to detail, and an easy-going attitude are other necessary traits for being good behind the bar.

Education and Training: Although formal education isn't always necessary, taking a bartending course or enrolling in a bartending school is certainly helpful. These courses teach you how to prepare drinks, interact with customers, and serve alcohol responsibly. Additionally, learning more about various alcoholic beverages, wines, and beers will help you develop your talents and become more versatile.

Mixology and creativity: Mixology allows for creativity in the creation of specialty cocktails and the creation of new drink recipes. You can distinguish yourself as a talented mixologist and draw clients by experimenting with various ingredients, flavours, and presentations. Your knowledge can be furthered by keeping up with current drink trends and participating in industry events or competitions.

Work Environment: Bartenders can be found working in a wide range of places, such as bars, pubs, nightclubs, restaurants, hotels, and resorts. You can select a setting that fits your preferences and interests because each one has a distinctive vibe and clientele. Bartenders frequently work nights, weekends, and holidays because these are when business is at its busiest. Fast-paced, loud, and occasionally stressful environments are common in the workplace, especially when business is brisk. However, the buzzing environment and the interactions with clients can also be fun and stimulating. Bartending can also serve as a springboard for future employment in the hospitality sector, and with good bartending skills and networking, you could rise to be a bar manager, or even start your own bar or restaurant.

All in all, for people who like to socialise, be creative, and like the excitement of a busy environment, a career as a mixologist or bartender can certainly be exciting and fulfilling.

HOSTEL HUDUGARU...'S RIOTUS VERITE FUN TAKES YOU ON A ROLLERCOASTER RIDE!

A SHARADHAA

HOSTEL HUDUGARU BEKAGIDDARE
Director: Nithin Krishnamurthy
Cast: Ramya, Prajwal P, Srivatsa, Tejas, Ramesh Kumar, and Manjunath Naik

RATING 3.5/5

THE world of cinema knows no boundaries, and it's an innovative realm that offers opportunities for newcomers to shine. Amidst filmmakers following familiar templates, Nithin Krishnamurthy's Hostel Hudugaru Bekaggiddare stands out. Right from its first glimpse in 2021, the film built anticipation and maintained a buzz throughout its making until its much-awaited release.

The film kept the curiosity going right with its tagline, claiming it to be the "worst film in the history of Indian cinema. It even drew the attention of celebrities like Puneeth Rajkumar, Rakshit Shetty (who has presented the film), Ramya, Rishab Shetty, Pawan Kumar and Diganth, bolstering the new team's efforts. With all of it, the question lingers: will this youthful entertainer serve its purpose and deliver the promised fun?

Hostel Hudugaru Bekaggiddare takes a candid approach, plunging us into a riotous ride with a group of lively boys. The film's narrative kicks off with thought-provoking lines, written on the blackboard, (It's only because of their stupidity that they're able to be so sure of themselves of what they see, say, believe and act,) attributed to Franz Kafka, and set boy of the film, reflecting the underlying theme. Ramya's entry as a college lecturer, adds a bright and enthusiastic touch to Ajith's (Prajwal P) aspirations of making a short film.

Set in the lively Tunga Boys Hostel, the film paints a vivid picture of the quintessential boys' hostel experiences, but this hostel stands apart with its unique and diverse residents. The plot unfolds over one night, filled with a clash between the mischievous boys and the stern warden, who's determined to keep them in check. Ajith's relentless pursuit of achieving something significant puts the entire hostel in a series of amusing predicaments. As the boys band together to face the challenges, chaos ensues, entertaining us with delightful twists and turns.

In this fun ride with the boys, director Nithin Krishnamurthy beautifully conveys the message of learning and unlearning from one's own folly through this film, where he takes credit as the story, screenplay, and dialogue writer. The director keeps a simple plot but focuses more on unfolding the many events. With a hostel atmosphere and numerous characters coming in and going, he had a lot of people to handle. Another challenge for him was managing the newcomers. However, the young talents mostly coming from a theatre background enthusiastically put in their effort, even if some just have a blink-and-miss appearance. The film boasts an extensive cast, from Prajwal P as Ajith, Rakesh Rajkumar as Abhi, Srivatsa as Manja, Tejas as Prasanna, Chethan Durga as Porthan, and Bharath Vasista as Kaashi, just to name a few among the long list of artistes. The seniors, including Geeni played by director Nithin Krishnamurthy himself, along with two others, the warden (Manjunath Naik), portrayed by Ramesh Kumar, DOP Aravind Kashyap also facing the camera as Nikki, are integral to the unfolding chaos. Rishab, Pawan, and Shine Shetty, play former students of the college, and make significant contributions. Diganth's presence adds colour to the quirkiness, and he becomes the reason behind bringing Ramya's charming personality into the frame. Adding to the charm are the brief appearances of Archana Kottige, Anusha Krishna, and Prajna.

Despite the film's straightforward storyline, the boys are portrayed with a serious demeanour, the humour they unleash with their one-liners is what keeps you in splits. While some scenes may lack logic or appear stretched, their banter is what keeps us amused, reminding us to embrace the fun and laughter. Credit must be given to the skilled cinematographer, Arvind Kashyap, who neatly captures the essence of cinema verite technique, a rare style and format followed in cinema. With the entire story set within one location, Kashyap's camera work and fast-moving scenes immerse us in the hostel atmosphere, bringing candidness to every frame. His attention to detail provides a rich depiction of hostel life, evoking nostalgia for those who have experienced it firsthand.

The music by Ajaneesh B Loknath adds a distinct touch to the film, complementing the youthful ambience of the hostel with tailor-made songs. Hostel Hudugaru Bekaggiddare goes beyond just laughter, exploring themes of bromance and loyalty among hostel mates. It sheds light on how certain events can reveal the true essence of individuals, even after they're gone. The warden's character stands out as a complex figure, a friend and foe to the students, portrayed through various events and situations.

A delightful cinematic journey that takes you through the chaotic, funny, and heartfelt moments of hostel life. If you're ready to immerse yourself in these boys' youthful exuberance and camaraderie, Hostel Hudugaru Bekgiddare will undoubtedly leave you with a smile.

The film, which ends with the team's promo with Puneeth Rajkumar, reminiscing about the power star, also gives us a clue about Part II. Hostel Hudugaru Bekkagidare will continue the entertaining journey, but will we see the excitement double with both boys and a whole lot of girls? Need to wait and watch what is in store by Nithin and the team.

KRG Studios, TVF Motion Pictures team up to produce South Indian films

CE FEATURES

ON their 6th anniversary, KRG announced a collaboration with TVF Motion Pictures. The studios associate with a focus on creating feature films in South Indian languages and aim to nurture and showcase unique storytelling.

Nolan's bleak biopic is measured and masterful

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

AT around the two-hour mark of Oppenheimer, we see the big event. The detonation, dubbed the Trinity test. Fire and smoke are locked in a mesmerising embrace, as mortals, hiding behind protective shields and screens, are bathed in momentary, artificial glow. Christopher Nolan doesn't extract this titanic moment for thrills; he doesn't utilise it for fear either... He presents it as an incredible moment of meditation. There's no music from the fantastic Ludwig Goransson; there's utter quiet, characters and viewers all united in stunned silence. And then, when you don't expect it at all, the boom—of transformation, of realisation that the world has been irreversibly altered. The moments leading up to this potential end-of-the-world detonation scream suspense. Oppenheimer is a biopic; so yes, you'd expect it to be a drama full of dialogue—which it is, but what it also is, is a thriller, a mystery, and as you're walking away reeling from the film's last moment, you realise it's, at its heart, horror.

In a film about a bomb and the man behind it, the dialogues are fittingly explosive and full of wit and brevity. This is of particular importance because Oppenheimer is a film run by dialogue. There are several achievements in this film—and chief among them is making a three-hour film full of chatter, often on not-so-easily-understood topics, and never once letting us feel a sense of tedium. It wouldn't be a Nolan film if the screenplay were linear; here, there's more than one back-and-forth idea. The film has us revisiting scenes and dialogues, each time with a bit more urgency, with a bit more background that offers us more insight. It's impossible not to think of The Social Network, which too was a film about a mysterious personality, told through snapshots that were stitched through the prism of a trial. That film too didn't declare its conclusions and instead, allowed us to make up our mind about the protagonist.

And it's not easy to make up your mind about Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer at all. This man with a gaunt face and sharp blue eyes that reveal so little, feels like a creature from another world. Haunted by Nolanesque visions, he's a man of many dualities. He has the mind to make a weapon of mass destruction but lacks the capacity for aggression or fight. He loves America so dearly but is drawn to communist ideas. He is horrible at the 'practicals' but consider the ramifications of what happened when he got good. He isn't a man of many words but is persuasive to a fault. Is it a surprise then that his method towards peace has him devising a horrific weapon of war? Cilian Murphy, as you've surely heard by now, is fantastic. In one unforgettable scene, he is the toast of the nation, the centre of applause and attention—but finds himself split, like an atom during fission. He is conflicted by the disastrous effects of his bomb but can't help saying the opposite, including being boastful and vain. Cilian, in this scene, plays Oppenheimer like he were a possessed conduit, like his words weren't really his own, like the whole scene is an out-of-body experience. The line from Bhagavad Gita, "Now I am become death, the destroyer of worlds" is then a fitting mythical equivalent. Krishna might have saved Arjuna's soul in Bhagavad Gita, but did Oppenheimer manage to save his?

I enjoyed that Nolan doesn't slot any character into extremes—and it's a relief not to see a biopic being a hagiography. The people and events are all deliciously gray in Oppenheimer. The gray is in the ominousness of it all. It is in the film's presentation of Oppenheimer as a torn person, who's not sure of his own stand—something he's repeatedly asked about and mocked for. There's gray, even concerning the morality of Oppenheimer's personal relationships, both with Jean Tatlock (Florence Pugh), and Kitty (Emily Blunt). However, the women needed to be written better in this film that has many male characters making an impact, even with little screen time (like Rami Malek's David Hill and Kenneth Branagh's Niels Bohr). Tatlock's loss and Oppenheimer's devastation about it hardly registers; as for Kitty, there's not too much insight to be gained about her (the 'baby-neglect scene' doesn't feel well-integrated at all). None of this is Emily Blunt's fault though.

Robert Downey Jr. is wonderful as the crafty, smooth-talking Lewis Strauss. His line about power being in the shadows is one of many memorable lines. While there are definite problems in a rather tacky reveal of his character—especially after all the mystery leading up to it—I liked that the film seems to go back a bit on projecting Strauss as a villain. This isn't a film about heroes and villains; this is a film about flawed people following twisted routes. Oppenheimer is drawn to a twisted route towards peace; Strauss is drawn to a twisted route towards power (is there any other?). America and the world itself is drawn to a twisted route towards victory, even if self-righteous.

There's incredible density in Oppenheimer, layers and layers that merit days of conversation. At the heart of the film, of course, is the race for the atom bomb. There's also the whole witch-hunting concerning communism—with Oppenheimer at one point even probing into definitions of what constitutes a 'communist'. There's the question of patriotism and freedom of expression. And as you can imagine, there's much war talk. World War 2, the cold war, the ideological war between the scientific and the political community, and then, perhaps more importantly, the war between ego and conscience that consumes Oppenheimer so much. To be able to create a gripping three-hour film predominantly led by dialogue, based on such dense material, is by itself no mean task—let alone come out with flying colours, concerning the accuracy of it all. This is a film that so comfortably tackles unrest—both the geopolitical and the psychological.

The success of the film is in how when it's all over, you realise that much of the film concerns itself with incredibly dry bureaucratic decisions. Administrative approvals, security clearances, appointments to meet government authorities, recruitment, the pressure of deadlines... But my god, does Nolan present all of this with excitement and urgency. There's more adrenaline, more sadness, more thrills, more dread... than a superhero film with heroism and plot. Oppenheimer is never still, not for long anyway, with each exchange shot like it were the most momentous one. There isn't a whole lot of head-scratching you'll have to do with time shifts in this film though. Like in Interstellar, there's a scene involving a time countdown, and like in that film, here too, it's riveting.

Oppenheimer, the man, may or may not possess a soul, but the film definitely does. It's also heartening to see Nolan continue to mature as a filmmaker. Previous films of his have been about high concepts, complex to comprehend but bewitching to behold. Time dilation, wormholes and black holes, dreams within dreams, human clones... I could go on. But this time, he's handled something real, something historical. And yet, this central topic of the human mind and its relation to the conscience feels like the most complex topic of them all. After his underwhelming last film, Tenet, which too fascinatingly was about wanting to go back on an invention, Oppenheimer marks a welcome return to form for Nolan, a preeminent champion of the big-screen experience. This is good news for all.

Unmasking the medical mafia and the clash of healing practices

A SHARADHAA

MADHURA KAAVYA
Director: Madhusudhan Kyathanahalli
Cast: Madhusudhan Kyathanahalli, Yashoda Gowda, Rajkumar Navik, Annappa Swamy, Nachappa.

MADHURA Kaavya is a film coming from Madhusudhan Kyathanahalli, an Ayurvedic doctor who takes on multiple roles of a writer, director, actor and in charge of production. The story is set in a tranquil village where Yashoda, an Ayurvedic doctor, and Maaveera (Madhusudhan), who is presumed to be his son, gain admiration for their selfless dedication to providing free Ayurvedic treatments to patients. However, their altruistic mission faces severe opposition from the powerful medical mafia, represented by Health Minister Madesha who owns a hospital.

The film explores the clash between traditional Ayurvedic medicine and modern allopathic medicine, delving into the underlying philosophy and ethics of each approach. Initially, the story centers around this ideological conflict, but it eventually shifts its focus to the corrupt practices within the allopathic healthcare system, portraying a mafia-like operation seeking to suppress holistic healing.

Unfortunately, the film's impact is hindered by the involvement of non-professional actors, which weakens the storytelling. While Madhusudhan's expertise as an Ayurvedic doctor could have been used to present a compelling narrative about Ayurveda, the film ends up primarily concentrating on the medical mafia theme, a topic that has been explored before in Kannada cinema.

The narrative's inconsistency and wavering focus on different themes test the audience's patience, and it might have been more effective to maintain a steady exploration of Ayurveda's significance instead of getting entangled in the realm of gangsters. However, the film's strongest aspect lies in its portrayal of rural life, making it relevant and appealing to audiences in those areas.

Despite its flaws, Madhura Kaavya manages to shed light on the timeless clash between traditional and modern medicine. With a stronger narrative about Ayurveda and more polished acting, the film could have left a more significant impact. Nonetheless, it serves as a relevant piece for audiences in rural settings who appreciate the essence of traditional healing practices.
